Beyond the sheltered mountains of the Wasatch Front, opportunity knocked for Timpview students willing to answer. Israel opened new vistas as Chris Herrod spent a semester abroad. Sara Midgely's homemaking talents won her entrance to Japan to study their culture. Closing the door on an exciting school year in New Zealand, Mary Wadham proved that Timpview students were not sitting back to watch the sunset, but looking past the shadowed valley of Utah Lake to their future.

HORIZONS...

LAUNCH YOUR OWN

RAINBOW...

Timpview students weren't as easily transported over their rainbows by tornadoes as Dorothy was, but by their own hard work. Kris Rawle ran thousands of miles before taking sixth at the TAC National Cross Country Championships his junior year, and Jerry Peay spent hours working with his horses that brought him several first place trophies in national competition. Others, like Laura Karren, who made plans to write a history book, set long-range goals. A pot of gold awaited all those who dared search for it (except maybe for Joe Hiatt, who had his eye on the 1992 Presidential race.)

C hallenges are a part of life, and without them most people would crumble and die."—Andree Dixon

T he harder the challenge, the sweeter the success."—Yvette Rodriguez

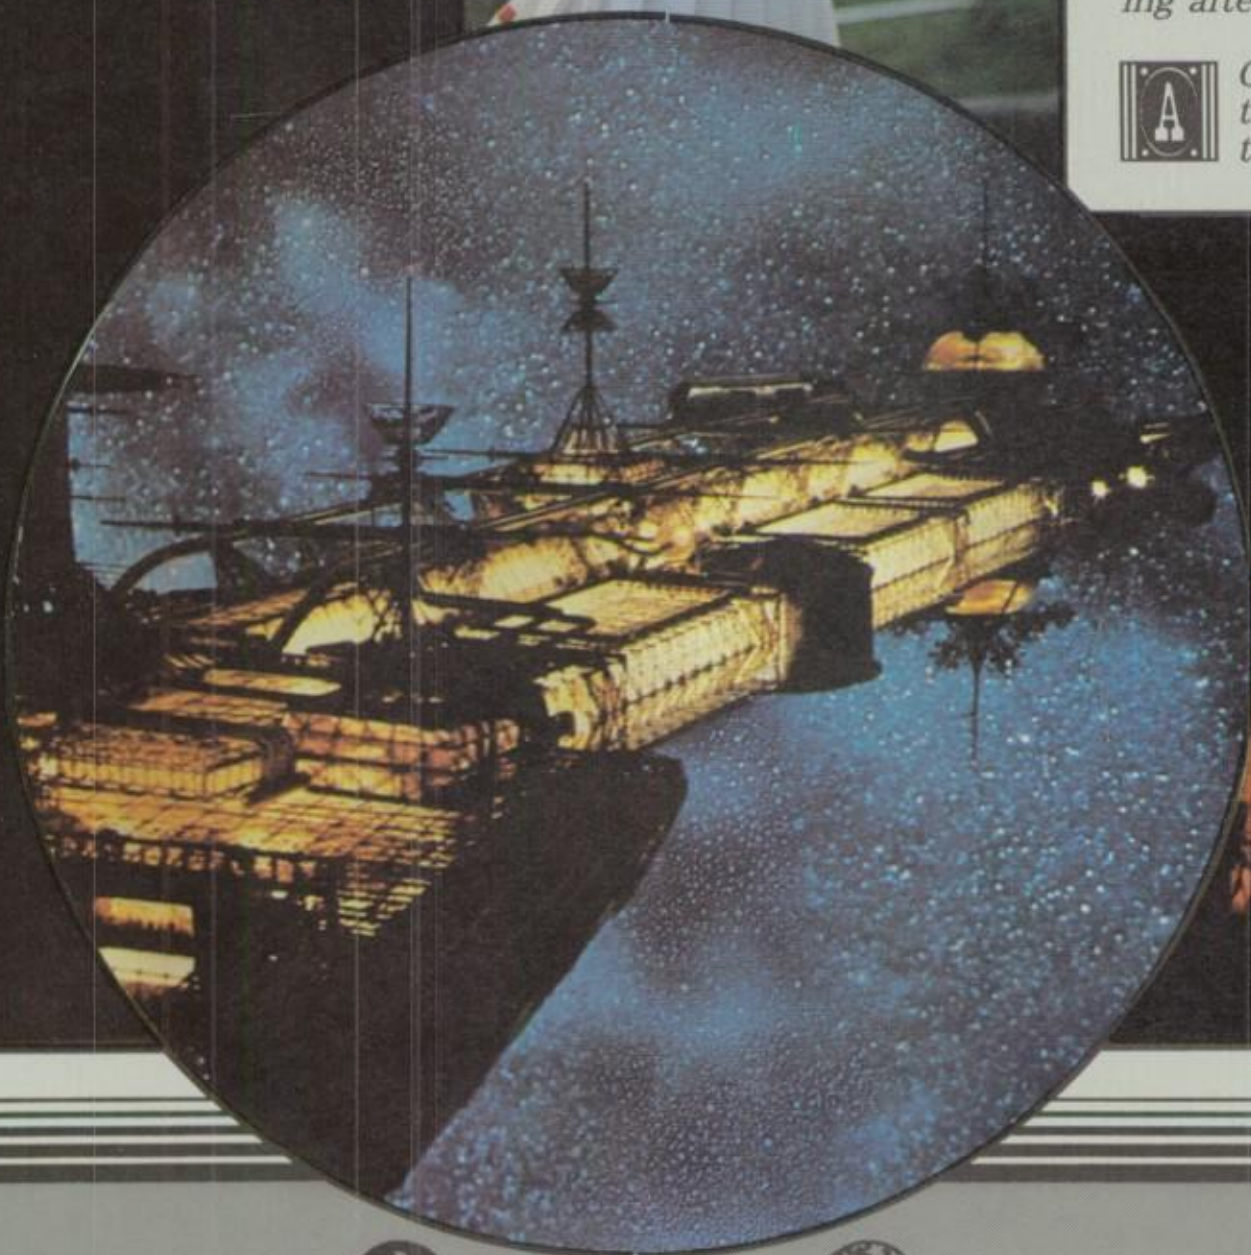

REACH FO

As shooting stars stream across the sky, so did Timpview students. Rob Carlisle was shining on the football field many times. People were heard saying, "What was that orange flash?" Kendall Tuckett made her own meteor flight through the air by taking State in the shot-put her sophomore year. York Faulkner was seen with a comet of water behind him as he waterskied barefoot. In 1983 Timpview students reached for and caught their stars and didn't let them pass.

A challenge is something that is set high upon a pedestal, not easily reached, but worth going after."—John Rees

A Challenge is something that tests your skill or integrity to the limit."—Scott Sorensen

R THE STARS...

SOAR TO THE

Eagles fly high, but the sky is their limit. Unlike birds, Timpview students of 1983 could soar as high as they wanted. Looking up to the mountain peaks, students watched as Nathan Harris looked down while sky diving 5,000 feet above their heads. Timpview students set their own limits and nothing was beyond their grasp—Scott Pierce left opposing linemen grasping as his passes soared high over their heads, and Brad Pearce was top in the national tennis rankings for doubles in his age group.

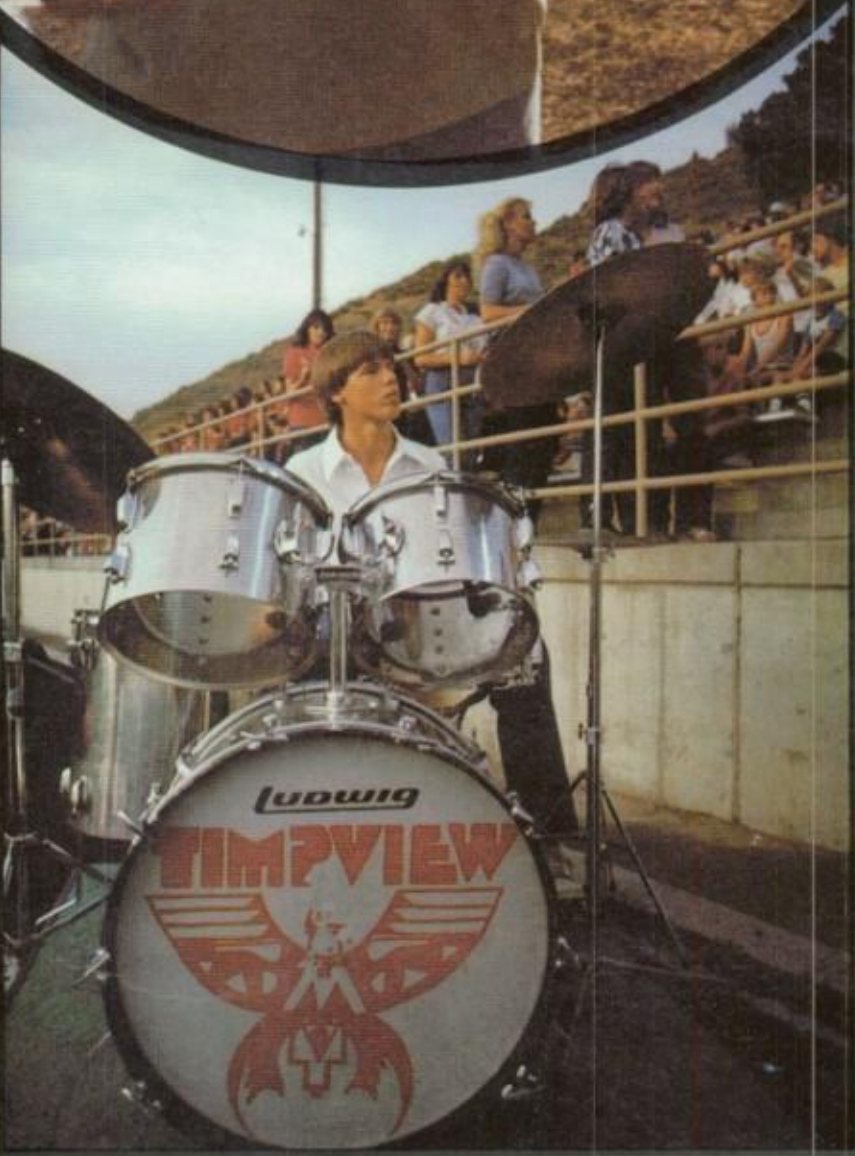

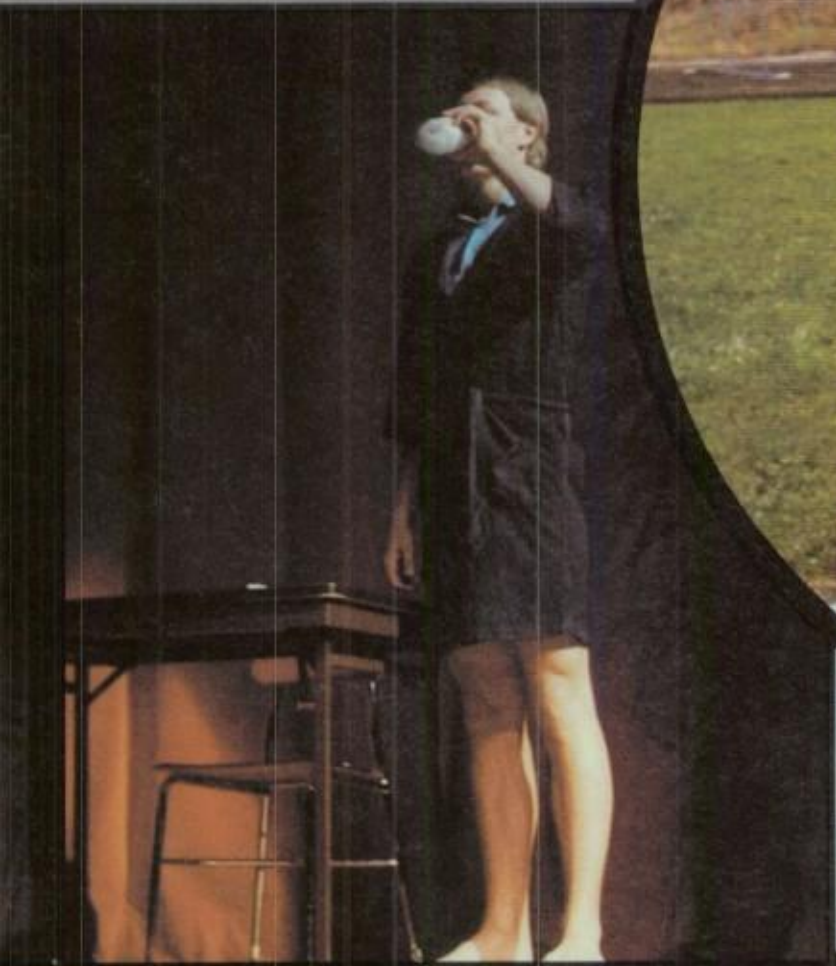

challenge is a task that pushes you to your upmost ability."—Cheryl Barnett challenge is a five-mile run uphill when I could be watching TV and eating ice cream."—Rick Skousen

TOP...

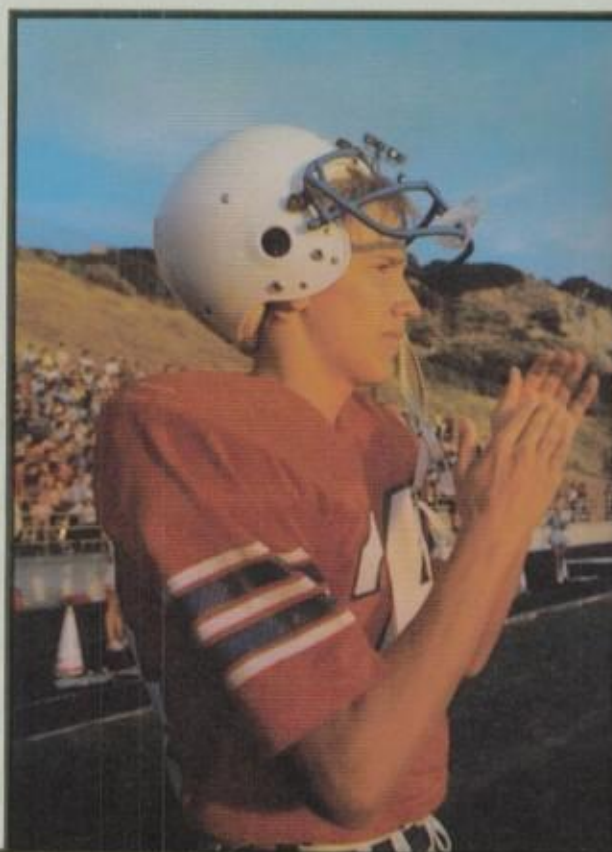

Knights of old built castles, conquered fortresses, and slew dragons. The down-to-earth knights of the 1980's were no less noble than those imaginary characters in fairy tales. Running ten miles in cross country practice, then returning home for hours of AP homework was as difficult for Tomoo Taguchi as jumping a moat to escape the enemy. For Shon Edwards studying seven foreign languages proved to be more exciting than rescuing maidens in distress.

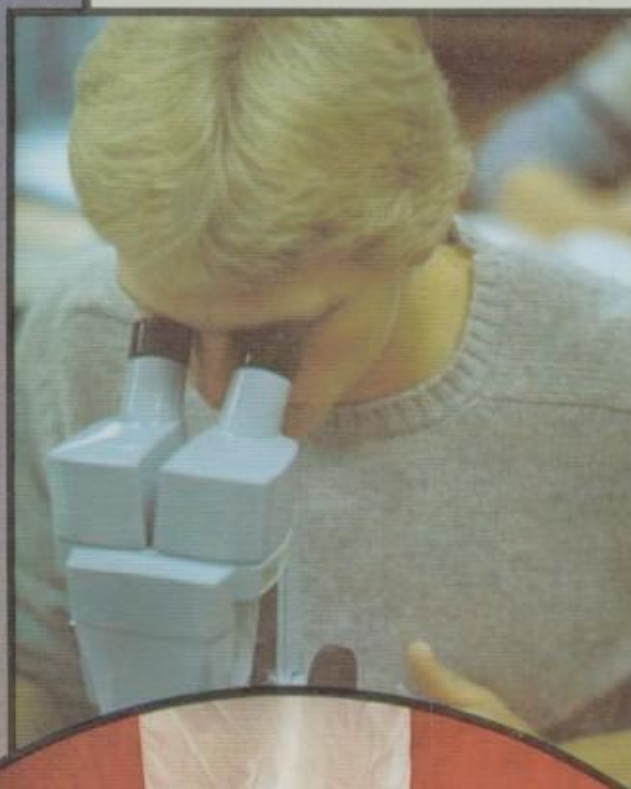

Slaying a dragon could bring no more satisfaction than Jenny Caneen's "5" on the AP History test, as Timpview's knights fought to build a better kingdom.

HOMECOMING '82

1982 Homecoming Royalty, left to right; Kipp Arnold, 2nd attendant; Jennifer Young, queen; Susan Taylor, 1st attendant.

Homecoming royalty joins the Muppets.

I think I lost my contact lens.

Students stepped into "Shadows of the Past."

Timpview players took up mud wrestling.

Freshmen served and snitched.

Scott Pierce shook off another Tiger.

Homecoming week started off with rain, rain, and more rain. There was so much rain the Tuesday stag dance was cancelled, and was rescheduled for Thursday. School was also cancelled on Wednesday, because the basement was flooded which caused the electrical system to burn out.

Thursday at the stag dance the Homecoming Royalty was announced. Jennifer Young was queen, with Susan Taylor and Kipp Arnold as attendants. Friday afternoon was the unforgettable game against Orem High School. Beating the Tigers, Timpview proved they were on top. To finish the week off, the Homecoming dance was held that night.

Shauna Liddle, Jo Ann Stott, and Haley Hansen served up.

hi-week

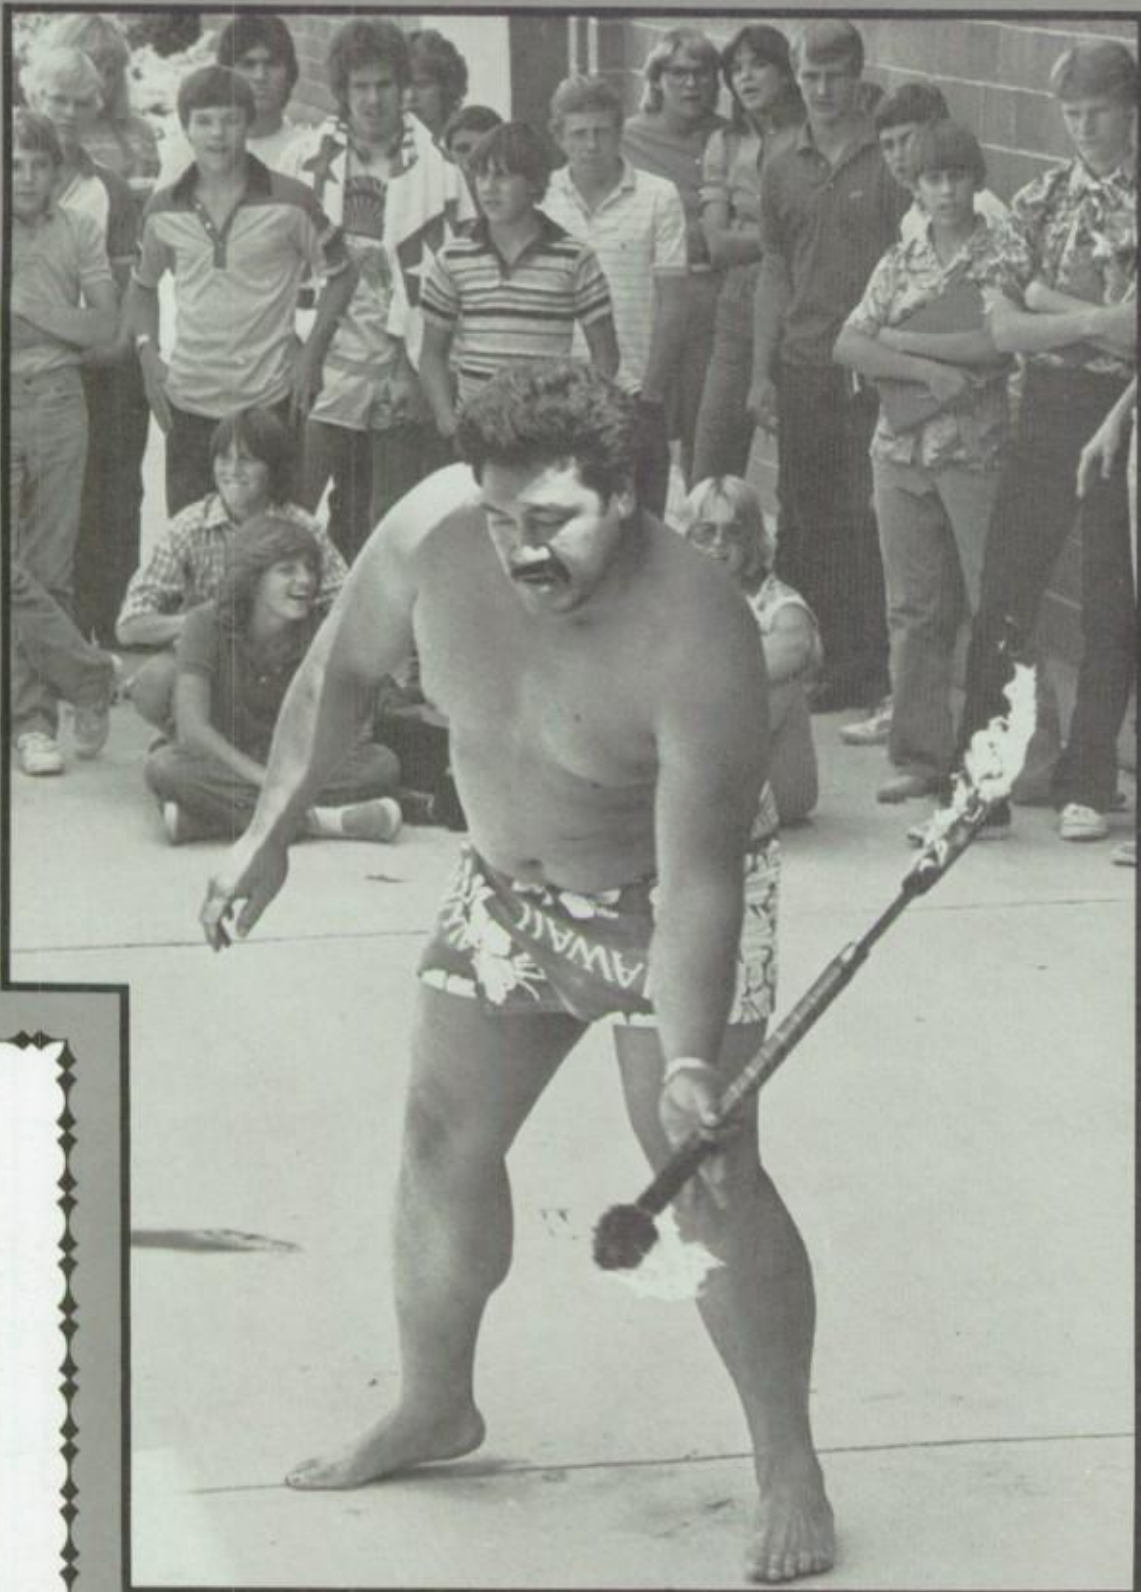

Rob, Jana was too Vitale.

Timpview tourists got taken.

Sean Coles went Hawaiian.

Smokey said, "No, no, Mr. What's your belly."

Few students took advantage of the extracurricular hugs allowed on Monday of "Hi Week", but more became involved in the second day's, "scrounge" activities as the halls of Timpview transformed into a Deseret Industries showroom. (However, the T-Birds' idea of "scrounge" proved to be the normal attire at other schools.) Tourist and Hawaiian dress-up days followed with camera-clicking students in Bermuda shorts devouring pineapple in the Commons. Members of Student Government demonstrated dating tips and proper dental hygiene in Friday's "Hello T-Birds" assembly. The week concluded with a dance where, surprisingly enough, the guys actually asked girls to dance. Timpview's challenge to make the 1982-83 school year the best ever was off to a great start thanks to the spirit of Hi Week.

Lisa Hardy-har-har.

Multi-lingual greeting.

"They're coming to take me away, ho, ho..."

Denny sued Bret for malpractice.

THE NIGHT OF SPOOKS ...HALLOWEEN

Anorexia prevailed.

Frankie bugged Sue.

Halloween began early with the art department pumpkin carving contest won by Brett Herrod. Throughout the day, mysterious creatures appeared at Timpview, including a Santa Claus bearing a slight resemblance to Mr. Campbell. Although many students refused to don costumes for the stag dance and movie "Wait Until Dark," several spirited ghouls, and space creatures staged an invasion on the halls of Timpview.

Lisa's hair spaced-out Carolyn.

"Mr. Barksdale, masks aren't allowed."

The Halloween pep assembly was a hair-raising experience for Trent Hansen.

"Witch one is Leslie?"

LaDonn and Reed were hip.

Jamie preferred bulldogs.

Marlin lost Leslie.

GIRLS' PREFERENCE

Rob Ross, Ron Mitchell (king), and Rob Folsom were most preferred.

Laura strutted her stuff.

"Love Me Tomorrow" was not only the theme of the first girls' choice dance, but was also a plea in the minds of some of the love-hungry females who had stalked the halls for weeks trying to capture that special guy. Preference is usually one of the most popular dances, and the number of those attending increased with the guest appearances of various zoo-bies and guys from other schools.

Brent and Dave were Snowed under.

John gave his pitch.

SADIE HAWKINS

Juliawna and Tim ate, drank, and were married.

Quick-draw Layton.

Hillbillies hung around at Hawkins.

Jana and Gary were serious?

Wearing everything from cowboy hats to long red underwear, Timpview students spent the evening of January 15 dancing hillbilly style to the latest rock hits. (Some of the girls almost resorted to chasing after the guys in traditional L'il Abner fashion to get a date). The hi-light of the evening seemed to be Preacher John's marriage ceremonies, finished off with a candy kiss.

CHRISTMAS

With snow in October, the skiers knew that winter was here to stay, while others were still hoping for an Indian Summer. The early snow brought Santa (Mr. Campbell from the North Pole to the State Football Pep Assembly. Decorating the commons with the Christmas tree, snowflakes, and a fireplace on "the wall" Student Government helped brighten Timpview for all. The Holiday Bowl changed the date dance to a stag dance which pleased most freshman and sophomores. Everyone enjoyed being with friends to watch the end of the bowl game. Through all the excitement everyone still remembered the true meaning of Christmas.

Eric Linebarger was fired up about Christmas.

THS spirit was high.

Haley created a monster.

The T-bird had legs.

PEP ASSEMBLIES

Sophomores scrounged for pennies.

The pajama party got out of hand.

Spanish Forks were lost at Timpview.

PSYCHED US UP?

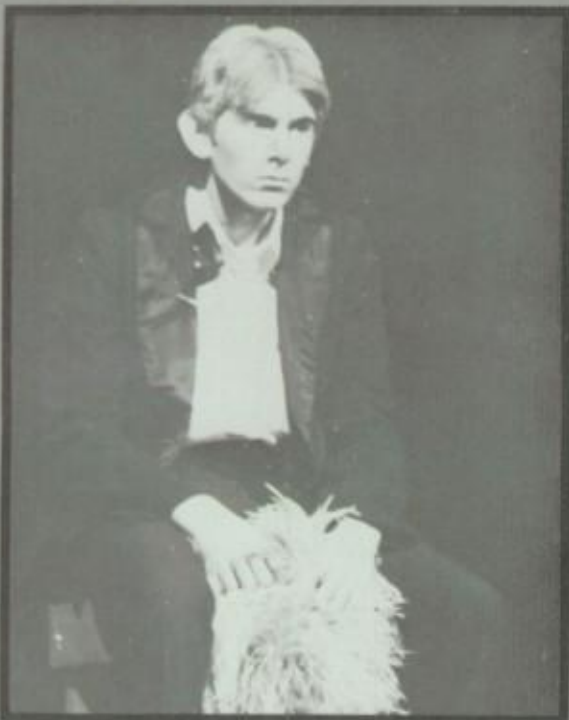

The senior section hoped for a victory.

The varsity cheerleaders took the Timpview Challenge while the sophomores demonstrated poor Spanish speaking in '82-'83 pep assemblies. A group of rather thought-provoking young men also made their debut appearance in the daytime pep rallies as they wig-gled their way to fame. Other students spelled out words "Sesame Street" fashion in a desperate attempt to prevent the underclassmen from keeping the prized Thunder-chicken award.

Insisting that he fell on his ski pole, Mr. Barksdale found an unbelievable excuse for his hickie. (Don't we all wish we had that much fun skiing?)

The 1982-83 school year was full of challenges relating to a changing world. Apple Computer became a household phrase as students increased their academic loads to keep up with the knowledge needed for technological advancement. Argyle socks reappeared on the fashion scene, and alligators continued to be a part of many T-Birds' wardrobes although resistance to the preppie movement increased in popularity. Students struggled to obtain excellence in every area from artistic abilities to the ACT test.

Most Likely To Marry For Money: Rodney Frazier, Karen Ellsworth

The Talon Tally predicts a glimpse of what is in store for the Seniors. However, his antebellum Datsun (alias four-wheel drive) parked and driven on sidewalks earns more than a prediction for Steve Andrus as Timpview's Worst Driver — likewise for Rachelle Edwards whose bizarre driving cost $400 and started a chain of mishaps for Russell Billing when she smashed the door of his Champ going only five mph. Dating Jimmy Osmond and Glen Larson's (producer of Magnum P.I.) son is probably why Karen Ellsworth was predicted to be the Most Likely To Marry For Money. These tallies cast by the Seniors are only predictions of the successes, or disasters for the future.

SOPHOMORE FOOTBALL

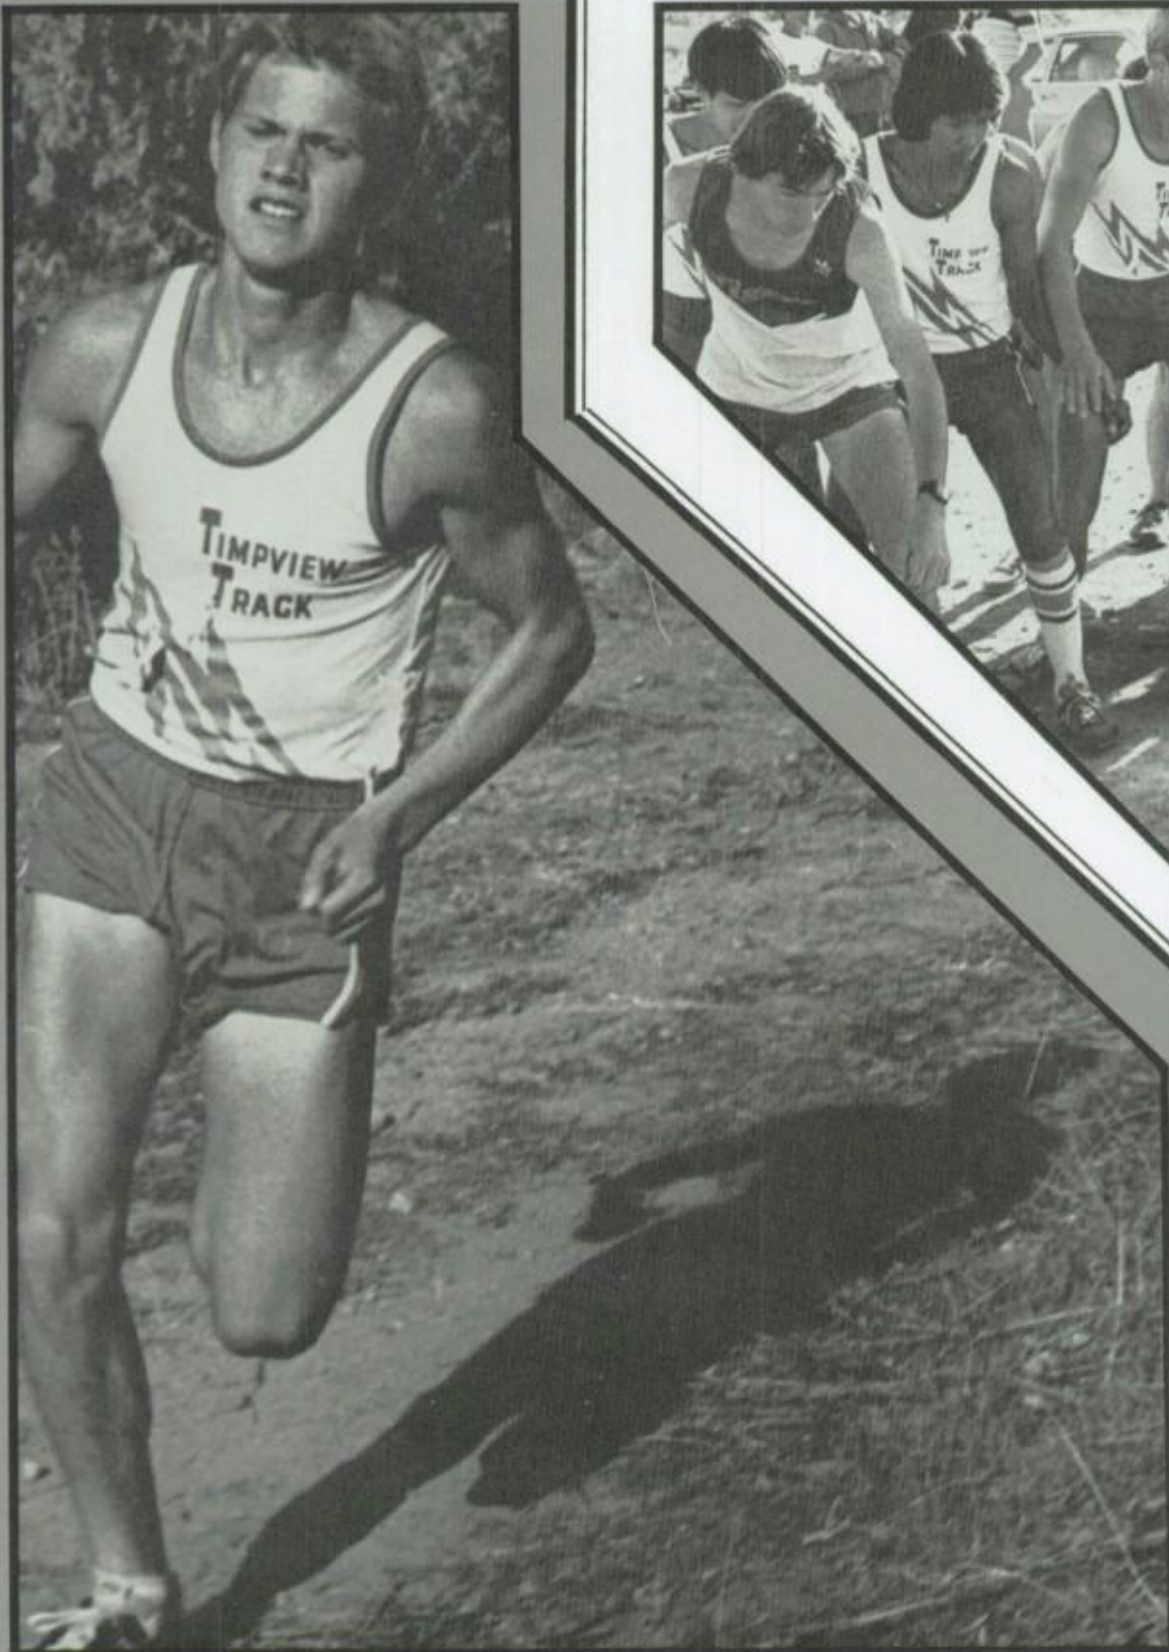

After watching the sophomore football team play an excellent season, Timpview students saw a glimpse of the victories in store for the Thunderbirds in the years to come. The underclassmen managed to stay on top by winning most of their games. Timpview's coaching staff is optimistic about the potential of the sophomores (especially if the shorter ones grow a little taller than their current heights).

After weeks on long, hard distance, the Boys X-Country team proved themselves as the second ranked 3-A team in Utah. Kris Rawle lead the runners by taking second at state, while Darren Hardy followed in eleventh. The only disappointments were that the boys never got new sweats, and that the girls' team often refused to share post-meet goodies.

Heidi Hughes made the All-State team by placing sixth, while Lisa Rowberry finished eleventh, and Shannan Tingey came in sixteenth. The girls' tennis team only lost one dual meet and brought home the region championship to add to the trophy case. The hard work in Region paid off with a fourth place in state. Michelle Bateman was the only new member added to the team. Playing first and second singles were seniors, Marci Vitale and Chris Stratton, while Michelle Bateman played third singles. The double teams consisted of Debbie Bailey, Carlene Christensen, Kendall Tuckett, and Dana Mathie. Also contributing to the cause were Allyson Denning, Ladonn Robins, Heidi Heniger, Claudia Bayola, Susan Wrigley and Susan Davis.

Timpview's male swimmers carried on the Thunderbird tradition with strong performances in the freestyle and backstroke. Steve Clark and Dave Rencher were the top 3-A swimmers in the state in their events. The T-bird divers also showed strong in competition. Trained by coach Tom Bugg, the divers increased their performance potential. The boys' main challenge was preparing to compete well at the state meet.

As the reigning state champions, the lady Thunderbird swimmers had their work cut out for them. Swimming an average of 3000 yards each day, the girls worked out from 7-8 a.m. every morning. At the beginning, of the year, the team worked on strokes, dives, turns, and endurance. A month and a half before state, the girls increased their yardage, then tapered off to easier workouts. Although the T-birds competed in four events (butterfly, breaststroke, freestyle, and backstroke), they were best in freestyle and butterfly competition. The strongest girls were Jan Mortensen in the 50 and 100 freestyle, Collette Williams in the 100 freestyle, Caroline Christy in the 100 breast stroke and 50 freestyle, Carolyn Crawley in the 500 freestyle and 200 individual medley, and Christine Campbell in the 100 fly. The swimmers were better than ever, ready to take on the challenge of defending their state title.

are to be great. — Paul Sagers, Captain of the Varsity Team

The varsity basketball team got off to one of their best starts ever by only losing two pre-season games. But when the season started, so did the struggles proving that our region is the toughest. Even with the loses, the T-Birds were still destined for the state playoffs.

Excited about their new season, the sophomore team with Todd Skousen as captain had one of their best seasons ever. This sophomore team is taller this year than any of the previous years, and if they keep up the hard work, they might some day take state.

The teams challenge was to win each game one at a time, to go to region, and then State." — Janet Beene.

With Teresa Thomas and Nancy Andrus as their captains, the Girls Basketball team was led to a successful season. Also contributing to the season were last years starters who were prepared beforehand for tough competition. The lady T-birds were able to overcome their only problem of being plagued with injuries to add another great year of basketball to the history of Timpview. This years coaches, who were at the head of the victorious season, were Janet Beene, and Jackie McBride.

Under the direction of a great coaching staff, the volleyball team improved tremendously this season. Coach Beene played at Weber State; Coach McBride played basketball for BYU where she was an All-American. Coach Montague was a setter for BYU. Captain Debby Honeycutt and Co-Captain Lora Stanton worked to keep the team together and spirited. The team left this season with an optimistic outlook for next year.

We have a young but talented team. Our goal is to do better than we did last year (2nd at Region and 4th at State)." —Coach Doxey

Under the supervision of coaches Jena Doxey, Todd Calvert, and Teri Hatfield, the gymnastics team worked three hours a day in preparation for a tough, competitive season. Part of the girls' training included an intense half-hour of conditioning exercises to get the team in shape for several demanding meets. The gymnasts competed on two levels with the more advanced athletes making up their own routines. The girls performed in four different areas: floor exercise (tumbling and dance), beam, uneven parallel bars, and vault. All-around gymnasts, LaDonn Robins, Kelly Hooker, Debbie Roach, Dana Hathaway, and Cami Waldron performed in all four events, while the rest of the team selected one or two areas.

The Timpview Drill Team worked day and night to improve Timpview. They could be seen on the football field marching and practicing at 6:00 a.m. during the summer. They attended a Drill Camp at Utah State and won both group and individual awards. The Shandells received 35 superior ribbons, and 29 excellent ribbons. They also received a Spirit Stick for the overall spirited group. Individual awards were won by Barbara Petersen, Deeann Tucker, Leslie Crowley, Laura Stoddard, Kaylene Ostler, Karla Craner, and Kathy Graham. Working hard, and achieving awards were only part. The Shandells helped keep students spirits high. They supported both the cheerleaders and the athletes. The Shandells of 1982-83 were the best yet.

Timpview's 1983 Cabinet had the challenge of putting the new School Constitution in place. Heading assemblies, activities and all other school affairs, the seven officers succeeded in uniting the Thunderbirds. Under the leadership of Eric White, the Cabinet made 1983 a year of new ideas, changes, and unusually different activities.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Val ate her wheaties each morning.

Timpview's '83 student council worked to implement the new constitution. Besides performing in unusual assemblies and organizing lunch time activities, the officers tried to involve the studentbody and promote school spirit. Under the direction of Mr. Barksdale, the student council chaired dances, made posters, sponsored activities, and socialized 3rd period. They also had in-service lessons to learn how to act towards the studentbody, and to keep them humble. The officers' main challenges were to serve Timpview and leave office without everyone hating them.

APPOINTED OFFICERS

My hardest job as appointed officer is doing the jobs of the elected officers."—Steven Larry Ashby

Timpview's Supreme Court worked to make the school constitution run smoothly and prevented cheating in elections. Meanwhile, School Spirit chairmen promoted T-Bird unity by decorating the Commons with posters announcing various activities. They filled the marquee with thought-provoking comments and kept Timp's good image alive.

Bruce missed his shot.

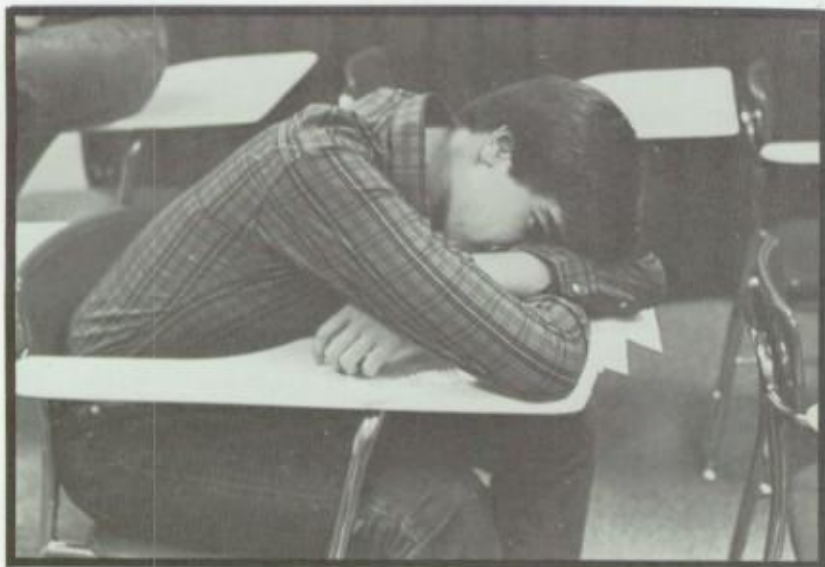

The thing that pleases me most about this year's paper is that it is something the students, not I, have done."—Mrs. Blakesley

Our challenge this year is to meet deadlines and have as good a publication as the yearbook staff."—Bruce Pritchett

Newspaper writing can be a real challenge, because it's different than any other type of work. Most of the Thunderbolt reporters are new this year, and they've had to learn a lot of new techniques. Journalism can be a blast, but it's also hard work to put out a paper that pleases the majority of the studentbody."—Joanne Baird

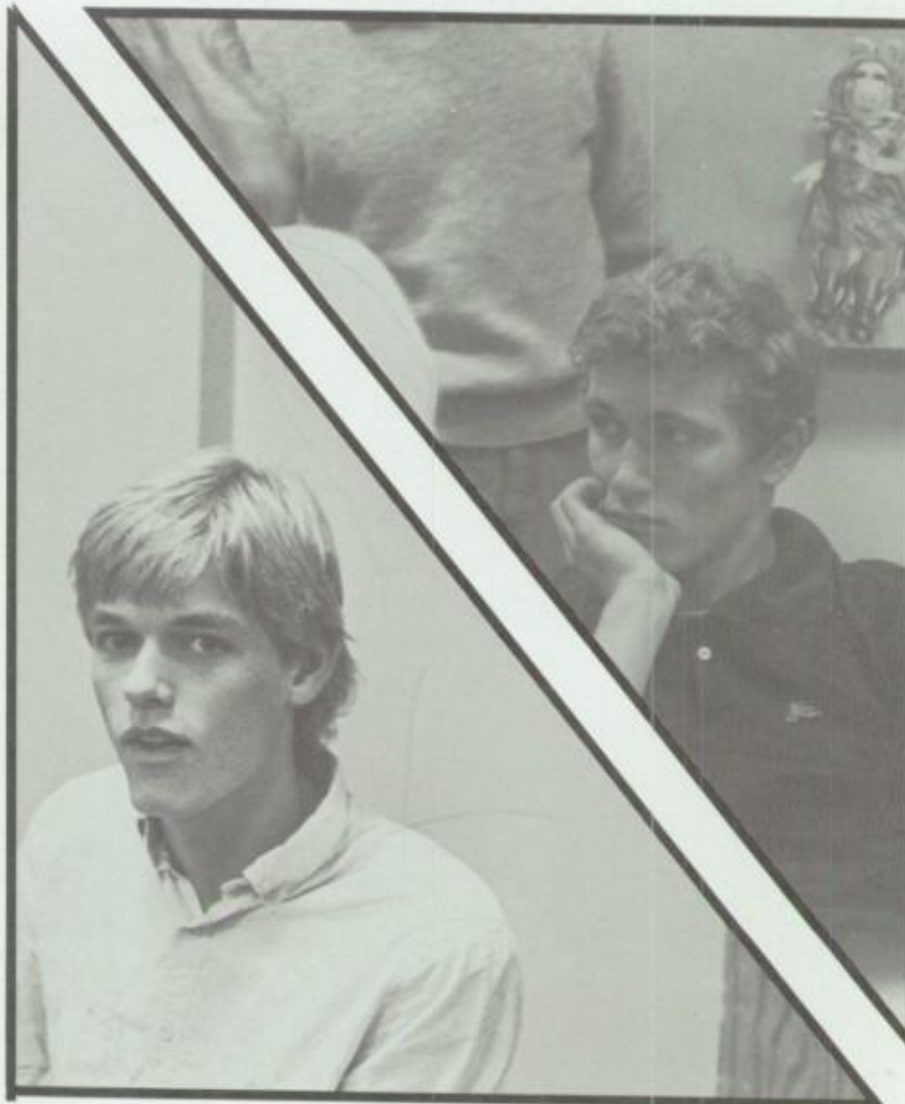

Karen Backman composed.

Writing put Bret to sleep.

Reporters kept Rob from killing Bruce.

Journalism thrilled Joe and Dave.

The Timpview Tattlers told it all.

Dana's story on Randy interested Kris.

Dream on, Rob.

Timpview's young journalists spent the major part of the year wondering why they ever got involved in writing ("Why can't we tell the truth even when it hurts?"). The Thunderbolt staff succeeded in making improvements on the previous year's paper—Mrs. Blakesley censored Bruce Pritchett! Occasionally, the staff pretended to be students and actually did homework. Mrs. Blakesley attempted to give the group some order, while several of the writers plotted to slip sneaky articles past the watchful eyes of the Administration (and Mrs. B.). The principle challenge of the Thunderbolt staff was to publish a legitimate newspaper students enjoyed reading.

The Talon Staff really didn't accomplish much until deadline time when panic struck, and they scurried about until the wee hours of the morning. The class section people screamed for copy and photographs while Carl worked overtime in the dark-room. Meanwhile, the editors resorted to destroying things with X-acto knives and playing with rubber cement as the freshmen filled out photo assignment sheets for every single candid shot. On other occasions, the industrious Talon Staff scoured the town for ads, listened to loud music, and ate everything in sight. Certain yearbook people were known for their promptness and others had reputations for their excellent driving skills. Besides deadlines, the Talon Staff's greatest challenge was to refrain from stealing the yearbook funds for a deluxe vacation in the Bahamas.

Our greatest challenge was to maintain the excellence in quality of Timpview yearbooks.

After a one-year absence, Mr. Hill led the orchestra once again. Many different things occurred in Orchestra this year, including that of all the sophomores trying to have romances. The Orchestra did a great job in playing for "Hello Dolly" and other musicals. The orchestra practiced many long, hard hours after school and on Saturdays in the freezing pit for the rehearsals. They added much to the Timpview Music Department.

Under the direction of Mr. Billings, Timpview's bands practiced throughout the year to perfect their performance for Region competition. During the summer and most of the school year, Provo residents could hear the marching band in session. The musicians prepared themselves for several local parades by marching up and down Timpview Drive. Meanwhile, the symphonic band performed at elementary schools as well as in concert at Timpview. The Jazz Band worked on improvisation skills and entertained the studentbody. The many hours of practice required for musical skill challenged the Thunderbird band members.

With Steve Ashby as their fearless leader, the A Cappella accomplished a lot this year. They performed for a Senior Citizen Luncheon and had several school concerts. Recording Christmas songs for KSL Radio and winning the Best in Competition award at BYU were also highlights of the year. Cereal Parties (with cartoons) and the social with Provo High A Cappella added a little spice to their normal routines. A tour was planned for the spring with California as their destination. A Cappella required a tremendous amount of effort, but those who participated thought it was well worth it.

ART

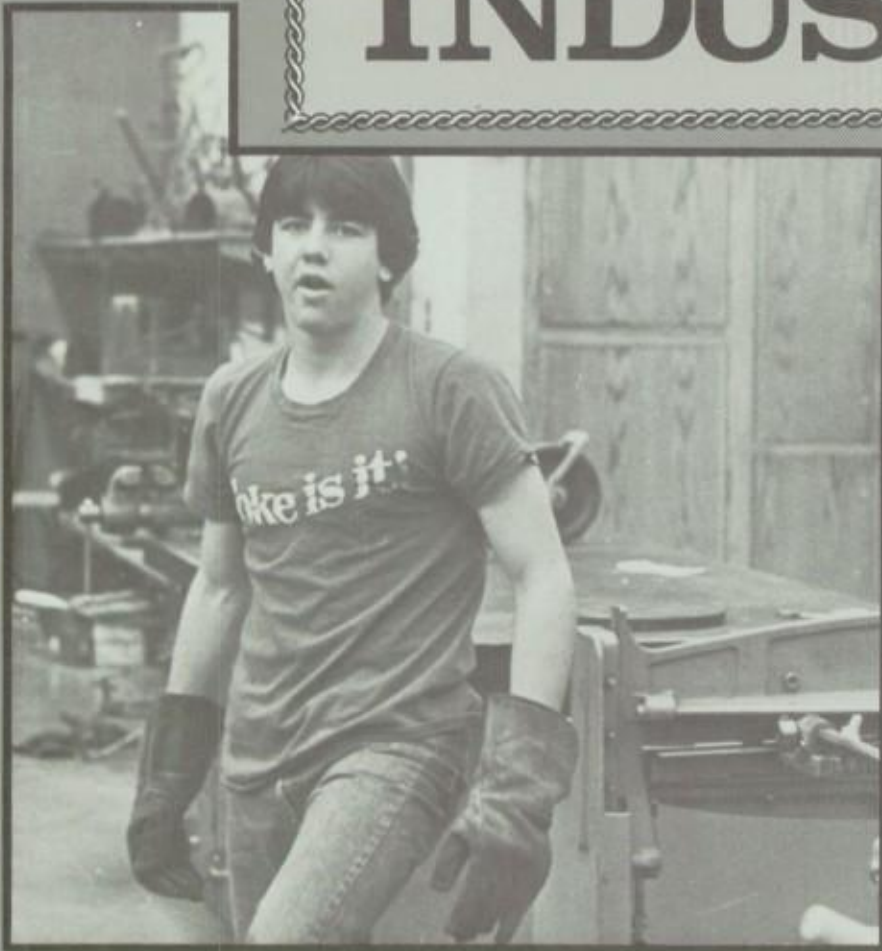

Dave Nielsen painted.

Not all Timpview art students were aspiring Rembrandts or Picassos, but most of them put their creative talents to use and got beautiful results. Although many of the young artists tried their hands at sketching and painting, some found that their ability was in sculpting or jewelry-making. Others spent their time behind camera lenses or with dark-room chemicals. The artists displayed their works in the spring art show and proved that they had met the challenge to excel.

Adam Taylor watched Mr. Campbell demonstrate.

INDUSTRIAL ART

In welding Derrick Stewart put on the gloves.

Alan Misbach checked his timing.

Harry McCoard forged with a swift hammer.

Andy Riggs was busy as a woodchuck.

The industrial arts classes were grateful for a new extension on the building that gave Timpview students a better opportunity to learn to work with the tools of their future trades. During the 1982-83 school year, the industrial arts classes began working on a project to promote safety. Metal shop class members learned to use welders and made swings and trailers, as those in woods were busy creating cabinets, chests, and waterbed frames. Meanwhile, the auto shop students became experienced grease monkeys and the drafting classes learned the fundamentals of architecture. The house construction group faced the biggest challenge in the department as they had on-the-job training pouring foundations, pounding nails, and putting the finishing touches on a house that would eventually go up for sale.

Janet Ulrich had Shorthands.

"Not me," said Mindy Starr.

BUSINESS

Chris Compton was wondering how to read such small print.

Although many business students did not plan to be Wall-Street executives, all of them learned some marketable job skills. Students who could type over 10 words a minute found themselves ahead of their peers when it came to reports, essays, and other hand-cramping assignments. Meanwhile, the shorthand and accounting students received some advanced-level business knowledge. Work experience T-birds got their training first-hand, as they fried burgers, pumped gas, and ran cash registers.

"Are you sure?" said Michelle Smith.

Mrs. Bowman had a nice day.

The Future Business Leaders of America (otherwise known as the FBLA Club) prepared themselves for the career world and had fun doing it. Under the direction of Mrs. Steer, club members attended several Western leadership conferences and competed in various business-related contests throughout the year. Leslie Crowley served as president, while Brad Peacock was vice-president, Karen Bowman was secretary, and Ryan Linstrom handled the money as treasurer.

DRIVER AND CAREER ED.

They couldn't believe it.

Laura primped.

Don't be so embarrassed.

After watching dozens of films, studying the Utah Road Guide, and flunking several exams, Driver's Ed. students can't wait to get behind the wheels of a car. Even though they must pass hours of simulators and range work, most sixteen year olds will do anything to get their licenses. Few sophomores actually knew what career education was all about, but they soon learned.

Freddy Frosh disappeared?

Bonnie and the drinking clock gave up Campbell soup.

Merilee found a new friend.

My biggest challenge this year is to get Coach Martinez to stop telling the sophomores to 'Go to health.'—Mr. Bolander.

Although health is a required class, many students found it to be a pleasant class to attend because of Mr. Bolander's entertaining way of teaching. Tales of his mischievous little twins always lightened up those sleep-provoking lessons on "misplaced aggression" or "enthanasia." Coach Kuhlman also spiced up his lessons with interesting films and diagrams of the human body.

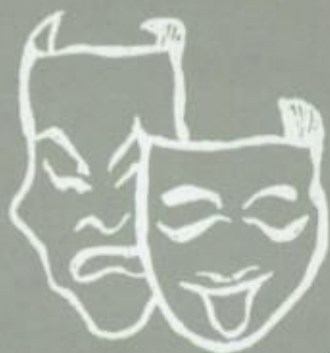

DRAMA

Look out Tom! Don't hammer your thumb!

No, not now, I'm busy!!

Some students, used to opening their mouths, found themselves speechless when required to use their worn-out skill for a grade. Others proved their hidden talents in controversial oratories and hilarious humorous interps. The fifth period drama class was enough to make Shakespeare proud and keep Mr. Brower on his toes. Meanwhile, the aspiring orators in speech got first-hand experience in commerical making and story telling.

LITERATURE

Mr. Rowley gave Ray a few pointers.

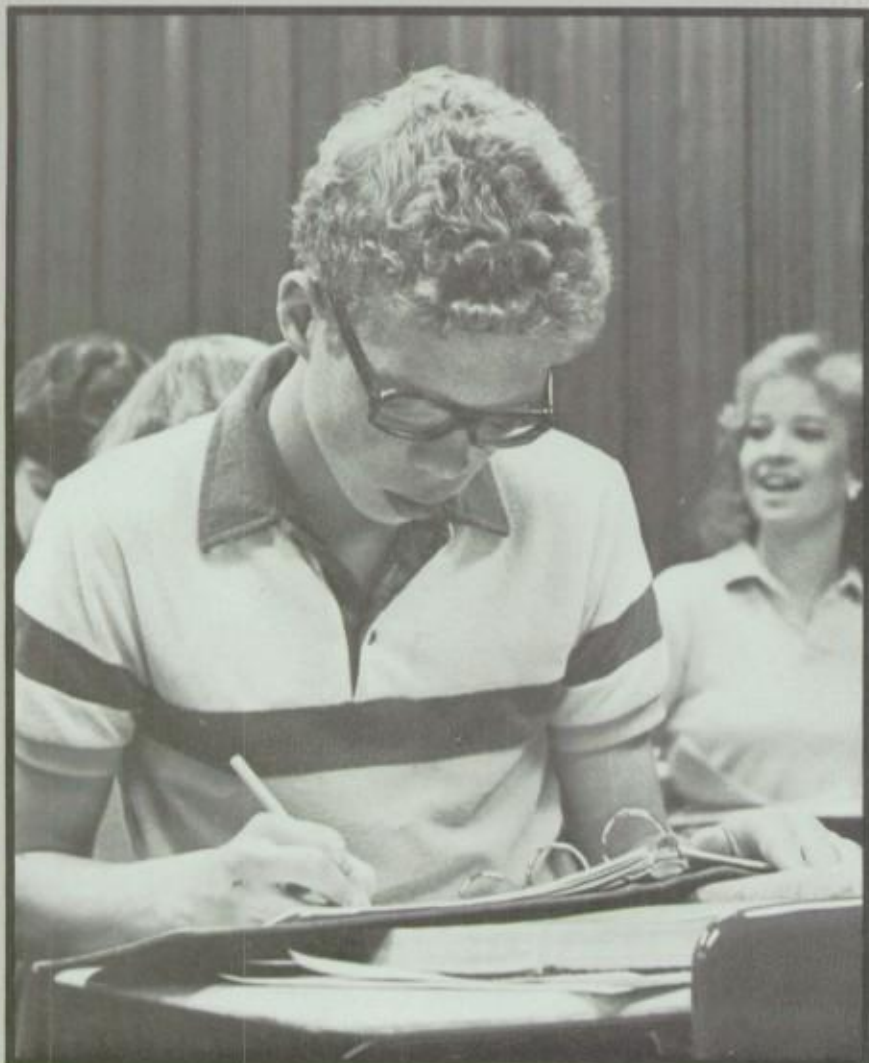

Diagraming could go on forever.

Mrs. Blakesley studied her Chinese vocabulary.

Susan daydreamed of her Prince Charming.

"Homework, homework give me a break," thought Jeff.

Albie decided he had better start now.

ENGLISH

Gina Chapman loved the amazing adventures of Claude.

Miss Drummond helped Jeff Thalman read.

English students quickly discovered that they knew less about their native language than they had previously thought. Juniors struggled with participles and the passive voice as the sophomores gradually began to understand thesis statements. Meanwhile, freshmen writing journals gave Mrs. Blakesley some good chuckles. Seniors worked late at night adding finishing touches to their AP author reports. Much to their surprise, many Thunderbirds found that, with a little work, even Shakespeare and the Iliad are understandable.

el dicho al hecho hay gran trecho."

The Spanish students took on the challenge of learning a new, and different language. All who took Spanish tried their hardest and gave all they could give to broaden their knowledge. The Spanish Club had their traditional Christmas Fiesta, ate, played games, and broke pinatas. Occasionally they even took a trip to Casa de Ruiz.

Mr. Stumphy's French classes willingly took the challenge of learning a foreign language. By their third year, his students were reading about Voltaire and conversing in a somewhat understandable French. Le Cercle Francais (translated as French club) ate gourmet food and learned about la vie Francaise.

GERMAN

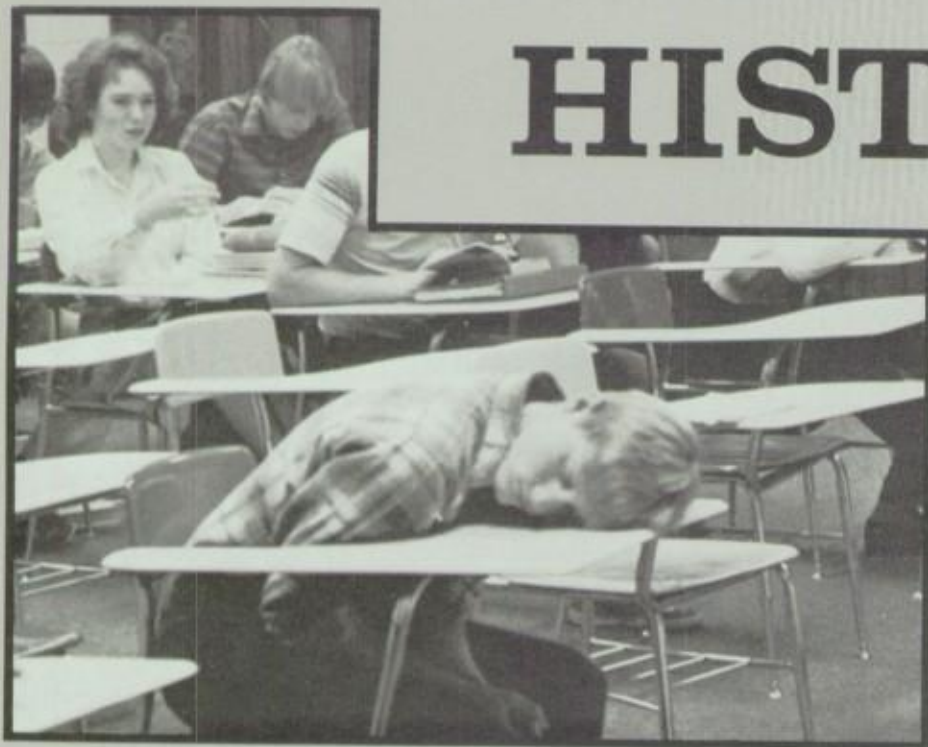

Unser Herausforderung ist. Deutsch verstehen, sprechen, lesen, und schreiben zu lernen."

For those poor illiterate souls who couldn't read the above quote take German and learn how! The Timpview students who took German found that they not only acquired a new language, but learned about the German culture. Watching German movies, and eating at the Schönwald Terrace were activities the German Club enjoyed.

HISTORY

Dave learned about The Great Awakening.

Keith looked forward to another day of history.

Brian Mason had a head full of historical facts.

Mr. Barksdale baffled Conrad.

A.P. students puzzled Miss McKay.

From paper chases to geography film strips, social studies students participated in various activities that taught them about the world. Sociology students read Ann Landers, while the AP Ancient World class wrote in blue books and learned new words such as neolithic and Taoism to use appropriately on uneducated friends. Perhaps the biggest challenge in the social studies department came to the U.S. AP History class which spent the entire year reading Bailey, neglecting Blum and wondering how John Q. Adams ever got to be President.

MAKE IT WITH WOOL

The Timpview tailors did well in the Make-It-With-Wool contest as Laurie Glazier and Danette Lukins were region junior division winners while Lorraine Eubanks served as alternate. Laurie went on to place tenth at state. In the senior division, Sara Midgley took two suits to state where she took second place.

Diane ignored Lorraine.

Under the direction of club president Suzanne Giles, the Future Homemakers of America proved that home economics is not just for mate-seeking zoobies. Meanwhile, Timpview's cooking classes survived the trial and error of would-be gourmet chefs and several young men discovered that they could be just as handy in the kitchen as their female classmates. Other students got their first taste of parenthood in family life while the sewing classes learned that store-bought clothing isn't always better than homemade.

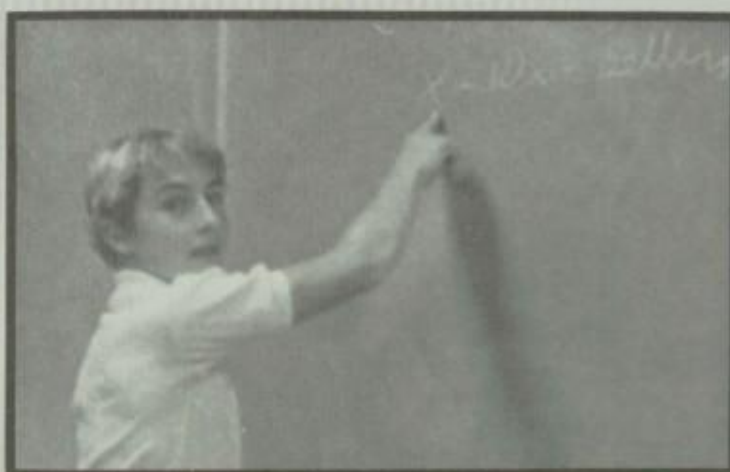

MATH

HONORS

Thunderbirds succeeded in taking the challenge in all areas. The Girls' Staters spent a week in Southern Utah learning about citizenship, running for office, and having toga parties. Meanwhile, at Boys State in Logan, the guys attended meetings, "pigged out," and wore the same two shirts for seven days. Timpview students also excelled in athletics, as golf took state, cross-country came in second, and the tennis team finished fourth. In music, Dave West took first place in a Utah jazz festival while the Shandells won with a military routine at a National Drill Team competition. Timpview swept through the Springville Art Show with eleven students taking either first, second or third place in various categories.

FACULTY

Susan Harris did what she does best.

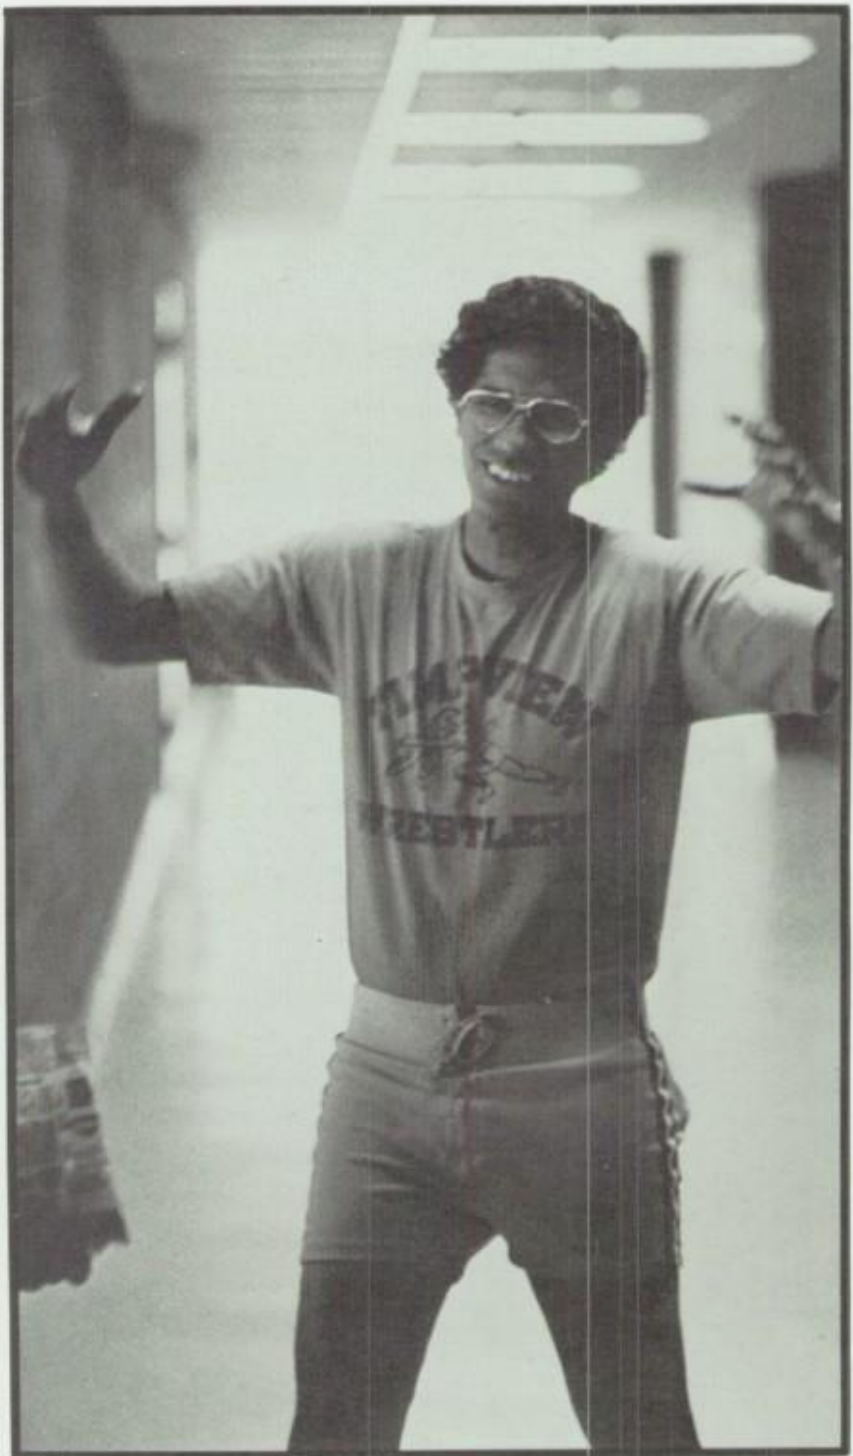

Mr. Strong saluted T-bird spirit.

Our Drill Team?

Mrs. Blakesley was modest.

Hey, Bobby!

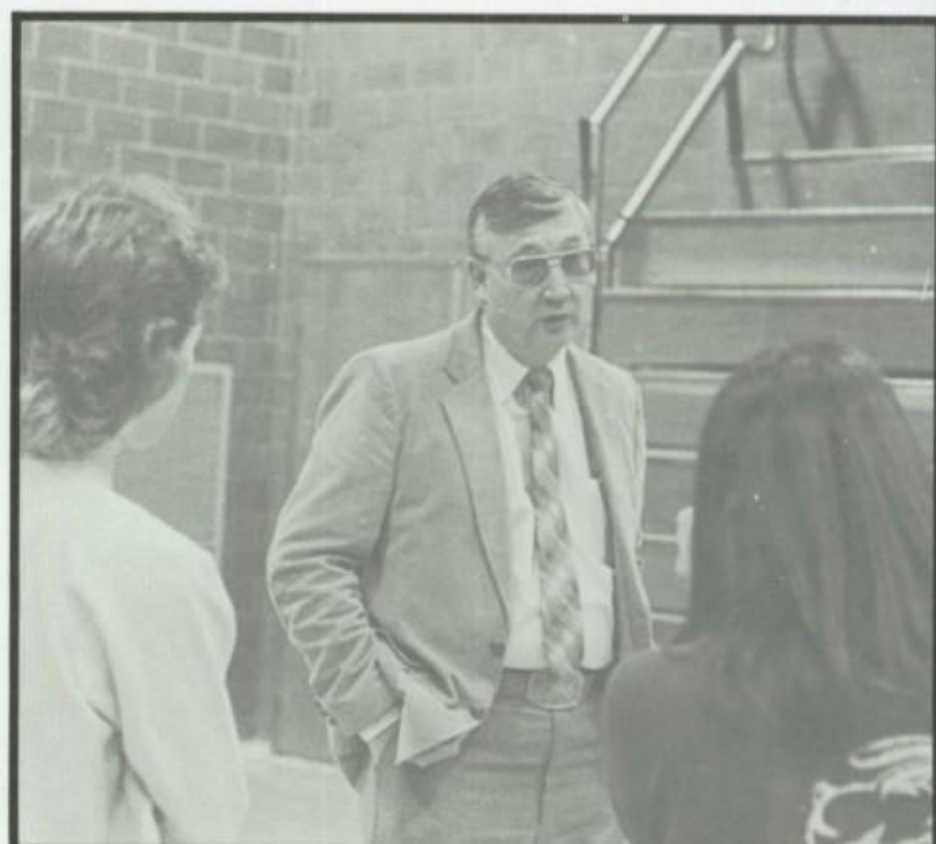

Raising staff spirit was one of the goals on the list of this years faculty. They accomplished this by having contests such as the jelly bean count won by Miss Drummond. Adding to these contests were the many parties which helped the faculty become better acquainted. They could be seen at all the activities helping make them run smoother and showing their dedication to the students at Timpview.

TIMPVIEW

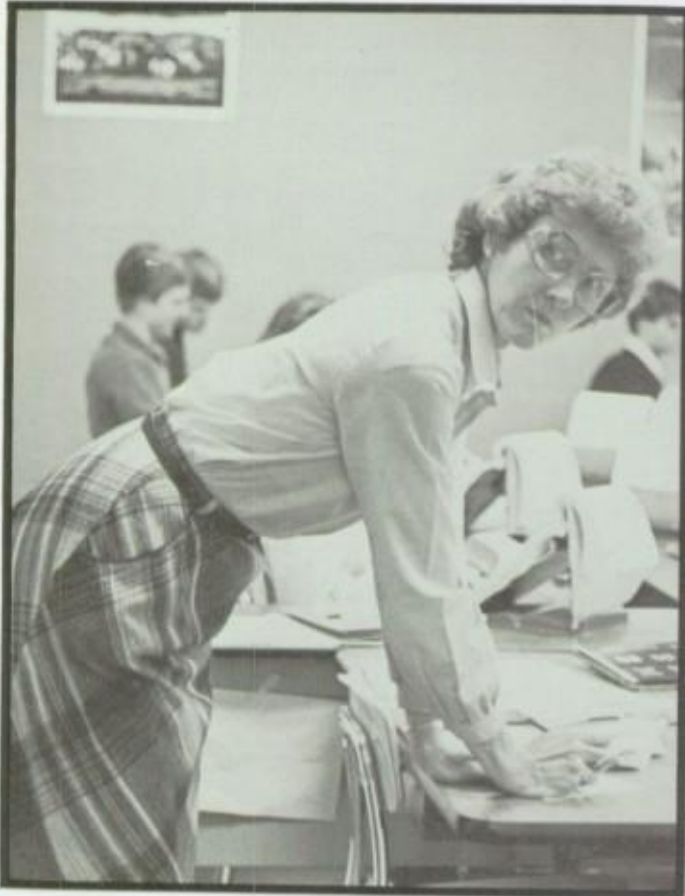

Miss Johnson had ardent admirers.

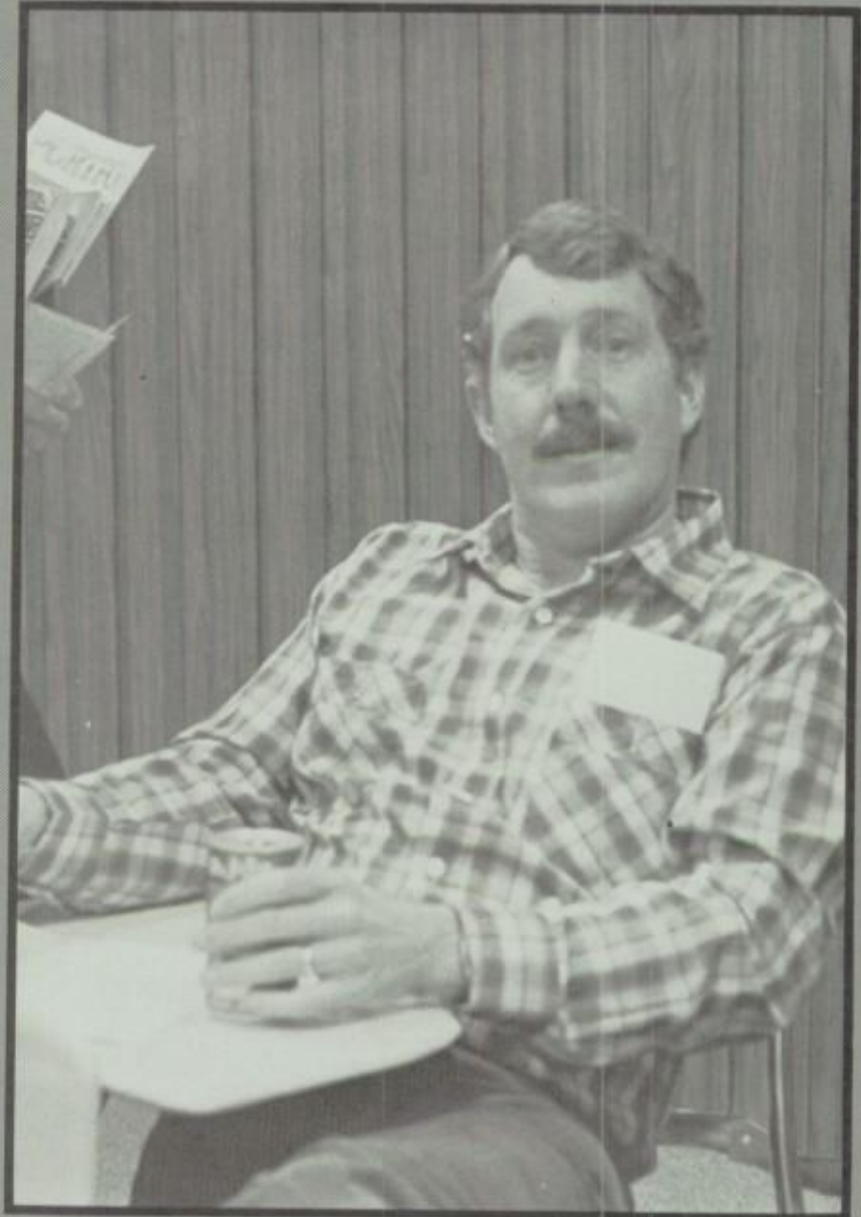

Mr. Lindstrom tried coaching for a change.

My three biggest challenges this year were upgrading academic standards, strengthening graduation requirements, and increasing the number of periods (6 to 7 or 8) for the 1983-84 school year." —Superintendent Bennion

Provo School District goals for the 1982-83 school year included refining the curriculum and implementing special programs. The District wanted current teaching knowledge utilized so that students could learn to their fullest potential. Another goal was to develop guidelines for microcomputer education.

Timpview's history of academic excellence continued to shine through the 1983 school year. Behind the winning Sterling Scholars, National Merit finalists, and exceptionally high ACT scores, the Timpview faculty dedicated themselves to helping their students succeed. Many of the teachers spent hours of their own time correcting term papers, advising extra-curricular activities and coaching athletic teams. Though some students showed little desire to learn, the faculty had a wealth of knowledge ready for those willing to work for a good education.

It was such a challenge picking senior Hi-lights, that we decided to hi-light ourselves."

In a desperate attempt to be hi-lighted, Senior Section Editors Karen Ellsworth and Sara Midgley squeezed themselves into the last page of their layout. Sophomores had a year of growth and changes. Many of them suddenly became menaces to the road after passing Coach MacKay's Driver's Education course. After waiting years to be old enough to date, others found that the guys no longer asked them out or the girls had lost interest. Having survived the teasing of their freshman year, the Sophomores moved into a year of more challenging classes. Among them were U.S. History classes and enriched English. Coach Kuhlman's health class also proved to be an interesting experience. Some students stuck with less academic classes such as dance and type, but still learned a lot. Even with tougher schedules, the sophomores found that many upper classmen still considered them to be over-grown freshmen. The graduating class of '85 met their challenges head on.

Talon Editors 1983

The theme, "Take the Timpview Challenge," held strong as the Talon Staff took the challenge of making this the best yearbook ever. We, the editors, spent a weekend of our summer at Weber State learning the fundamentals of organizing a staff and a yearbook, and also of a special deadline diet food, which included "Universal Sauce." The remainder of the summer was spent preparing ourselves and a staff of 27 students for what lay ahead.

First deadline came suddenly, with some of the staff lost in what was to be done and others having swearing sessions and practicing their thrust. With everything from hate lists to hickies, the staff proved they were the best by meeting the first deadline of 72 pages due November first on October fifteenth with a total of 107 pages.

Miss Peterson left for China after the first deadline, leaving us to prepare for second deadline ourselves but with the help of Barbara Hoyal, and the Toilet Papering Committee, (which provided 32 rolls of toilet paper to do Miss Peterson's house) the deadline was met and Miss Peterson came home satisfied with the work which had been done.

It was also during this deadline that a trip to Visalia, California, became a goal in order to provide the Albino Queen with a tan. Philipe, Stan, Roberto, Randy and Richard Simmons became popular; the love list replaced the hate list and umbrellas, pajama parties, and food made this deadline complete.

A Christmas party at Miss Peterson's house, with an excellent turkey dinner, movies, puppy dog jokes, and gifts, which ranged from a whoopie cushion to a Six Million Dollar Man Christmas album, proved to be an excellent way to wrap up 1982.

Third and fourth deadlines both fell upon us in January. Third deadline proved to be a weekend affair and fourth was no different. It was during January that the true pressures of a deadline were felt. Recovery was spent at a D.I. party where pizza and Poltergeist were enjoyed. The party ended with some of the staff trying to get home alone in the dark, others at BYU showing off their new cheap outfits, and others lost and out of gas.

The fifth and final deadline began with a "pleasantly jovial," visit from Bill, who was quoted as saying:

"I said I'd give you the supplement free if you made every deadline, but I didn't think you could do it."

Pleased with our performances thus far, we went into the final deadline with a determination to meet it with unmatched perfection, and in spite of bee stings, and romances we finished the book in style.

We have had alot of fun on the staff this year, but there is no way to measure all the work which has been done. Photographers spent their nights in the darkroom printing photos, and everyone else spent their days in the classroom working with layouts and copy. Come March our sleeping hours changed from four hours a night to the regular time, and our spring was spent recuperating from the events of the past nine months. The Talon Supplement, which was won by the talent and excellence of the staff, was also prepared at this time and was the first ever at Timpview. We would like to extend a special thanks to all those who made this book possible.

To get personal items without getting stung.
To learn to laugh and/or scream like a real person.
To find a pair of matching socks.
To keep "Queen Albino" title.
Janet's challenge was challenges.
To make it through the day without a cup.
To keep Allison out of the darkroom.
To stay away from the janitors.
To keep everyone up with Richard Simmons.
To keep track of her keys.
To write a running head instead of "running head."
To keep from getting lost and keep a full tank of gas.
To learn how to speak unnecessarily.
To keep the room clean.
To learn how to act like a freshman.
To get enough nominees for the Talon Tally.
To give a real hickie.
To make it to class.
To supply the staff with enough food.
To get a real hickie.
To graduate from Jeanne's school.
To learn before it was over.
To be pleasantly jovial twenty-four hours a day.
To be nice to George.
To officially write a caption.
To remember her Jr. Class office title.
To keep up with the neighbor's gossip.
To make her own layouts without George's help.
To learn how to assign photos.
To find all the pink sheets.
To draw something that is not punk.
To make a round circle.

New England Life. The only company with all the tools.

It's that simple. And that comprehensive. New England Life today offers a diversity of products and services unique to the industry.

- Business and personal life insurance with unsurpassed benefits and guarantees.
- A variety of mutual funds and annuities.
- Pension policies that include the industry's first adjustable pension contract.
- Complete equity services backed by nearly 15 years of equity experience.
- A Cash Management Trust worth over $1 billion.
- A full range of group life and health products, including medical, life, dental, and vision plans.
- Tax advantaged investment products.
- A growing family of financial service subsidiaries.
- One of the best income protection plans in the disability insurance market.
- A telecommunications network that provides instantaneous policyholder service.
- Real Estate Investment Advisory Services.
- Fully computerized regional pension service nationwide.
- A Master Service Account that consolidates and simplifies payment for various New England Life financial services.

And the list doesn't end there. We offer faster, more accurate group claim service. We have more individual pension policies in force than anyone else in the industry. And we've recently added policy amendments that have dramatically increased policyholder coverage with no increase in premium.

STUDENT AID.

It takes more than brains to go to college. It takes money. For tuition, room and board, and books.

The Army College Fund is designed to help you get that money for college while serving your country.

If you qualify, you can join the Army College Fund when you join the Army. For every dollar you put in, Uncle Sam puts in five. Or more.

So, after just two years in the Army, you can have up to $15,200 for college. After three years, up to $20,100.

To get your free copy of the Army College Fund booklet, call or visit your local Army Recruiter. It could be the most important book you've ever read.

The Challenge Was Met

This was the first year that the spring activities have ever been covered by the yearbook. Before this edition of the supplement, Junior Prom, Graduation, and the Stars Assembly had never before been in the Talon and Boys' Tennis, Baseball, and the spring honors had never been rightfully done. This supplement is an addition to the yearbook (and it fits in the back of the book) which was issued at the close of the 1982-83 school year.

Because of the yearbook staff's hard work and dedication, they met all the deadlines; a task that has never been accomplished, until now.

impview will receive a free supplement — if they meet all their deadlines." — Jokingly said by Bill Baker, Yearbook Representative

BASEBALL

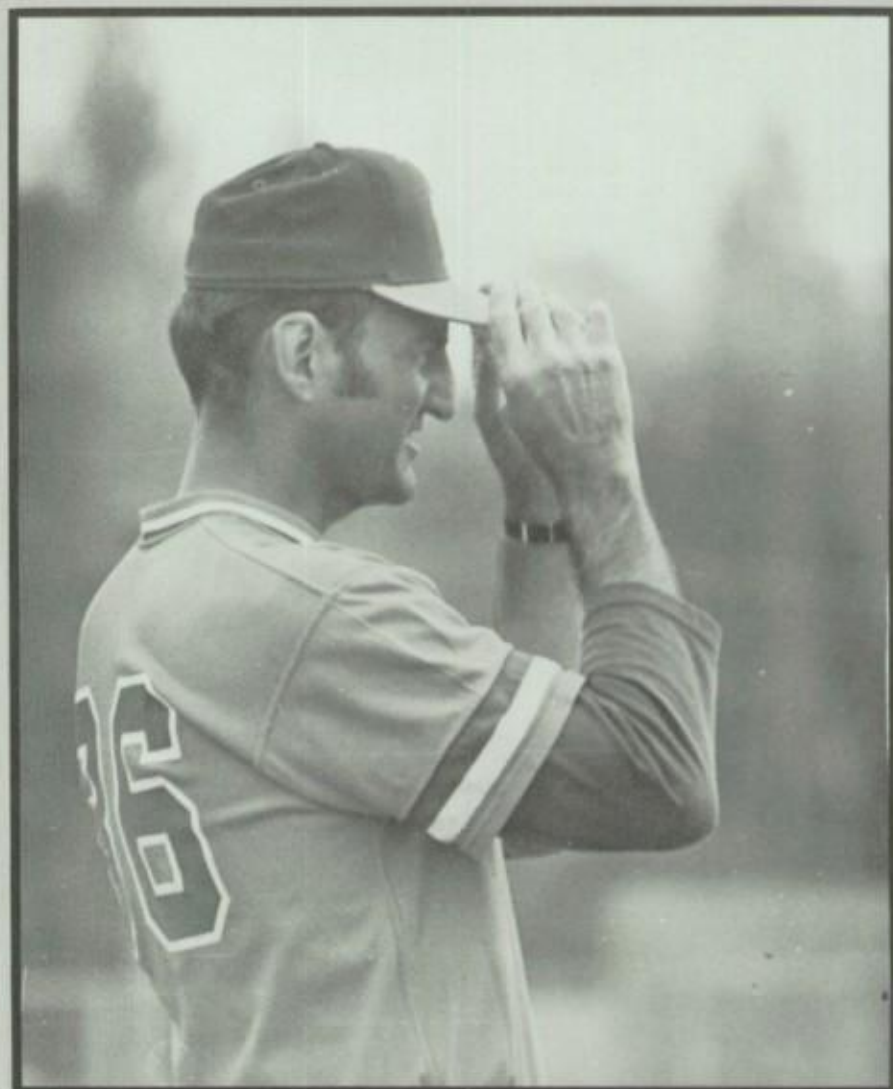

Baseball Team, Row One, left to right: Russel Campbell, Gary Royslance, Scott Pierce, Rick Skousen, Ron Gabbitis, Mike Miller, Ron Mitchell, Craig Werner; Row Two: Mike Hales, John Clark, Ryan Holmes, Andrew Engeman, Tyler Ashman, Ron Boshard, Kim Wagner, Nate Warner, Mike Lastowski, Mike Schroder; Third Row: Coach Hales, Richard Snyder, Jeff Cleland, Fred Davis, Bob Spencer, Chris Herrod, Todd Skousen, David Henstrom, Steve Pinegar, Coach Mackay.

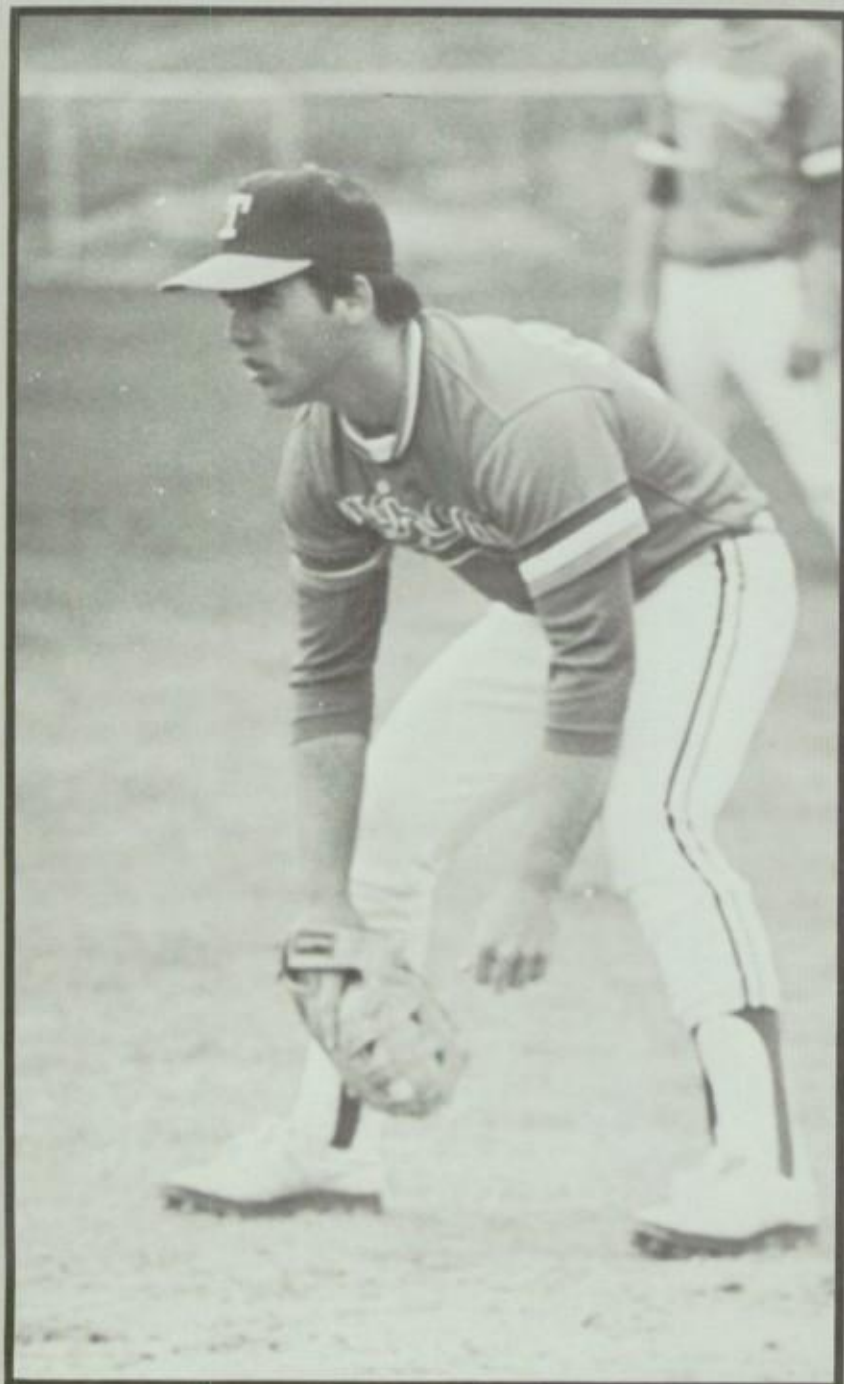

Ron watched for the ball.

The baseball team worked many long, hard hours for several months to prepare for their tough season. To start everything off, they went down to Las Vegas for a short vacation and reappeared with great tans. They had those of us who were not on the team wondering if they wanted to be on the team for the sport of it or for the annual trip to Las Vegas. They not only looked good in school, but they looked great on the field. The T-birds had a really tough season, but it was not totally unsuccessful. They gave it their best shot all the way to the end of the season.

Coach Hales had a shady face.

Scott Pierce waited for the ball.

Larry, Mo, and Curly.

The Bad News Bears.

BOY'S TENNIS

Boys' Tennis, Row One, left to right: Paul Kocherhans, Chris Dayton, Dale Hanson, Willy Craig, Rick Stewart, Jon Pierpont: Row Two: Dave Reeves, Chuck O'Brian, Keith Sperry, Rob Folsom, Will Sperry, Paul Sagers, Gary Chambers, Layton Schaelling, Coach Don Chamberlain.

Layton used his head.

"Rained Out" was a very common phrase heard by the boys' tennis team this year. The rain delayed and cancelled so many matches, that the team thought they would never get to finish their season. Playing first singles was Will Sperry, while Rob Folsom and Paul Sagers played second and third singles. Freshmen, Jon Pierpont and David Reeves played first doubles, and sophomores, Chuck O'Brien and Keith Sperry played second doubles.

ith Brad Pearce we would have taken State." — Paul Sagers ell, if they would have had me . . . " — Brad Pearce

Rick, Rob, Will and Dale gave their rackets a rest.

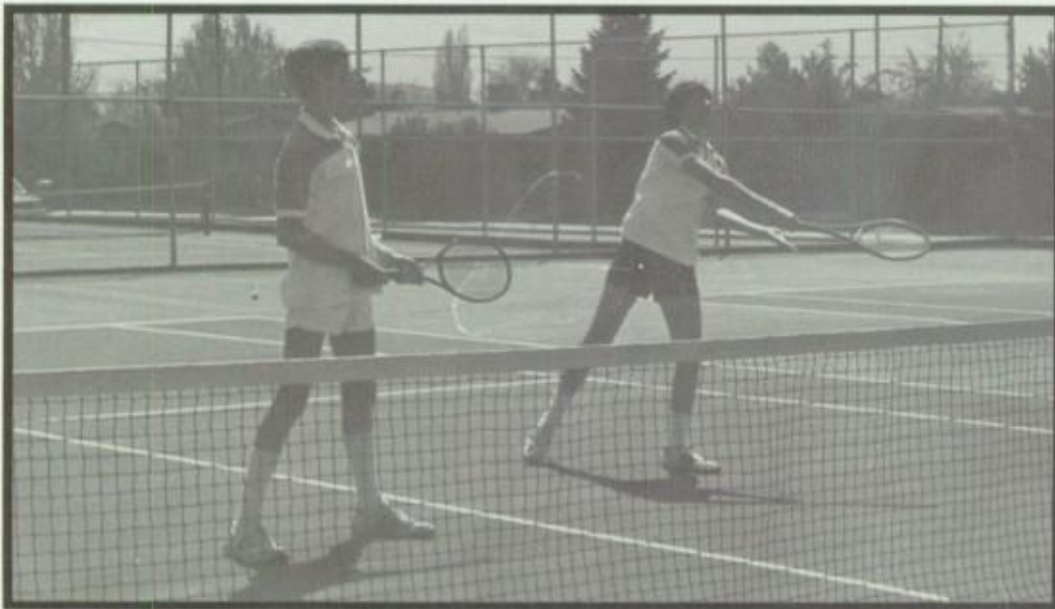

Will took a drive.

Rob walked the line.

Paul followed through.

Jon and Dave doubled up.

Coach Chamberlain sent signals to his team.

Chuck did a new ballet stand.

Keith flew into action.

GIRLS TRACK

Kendall Tuckett, state shot put champion.

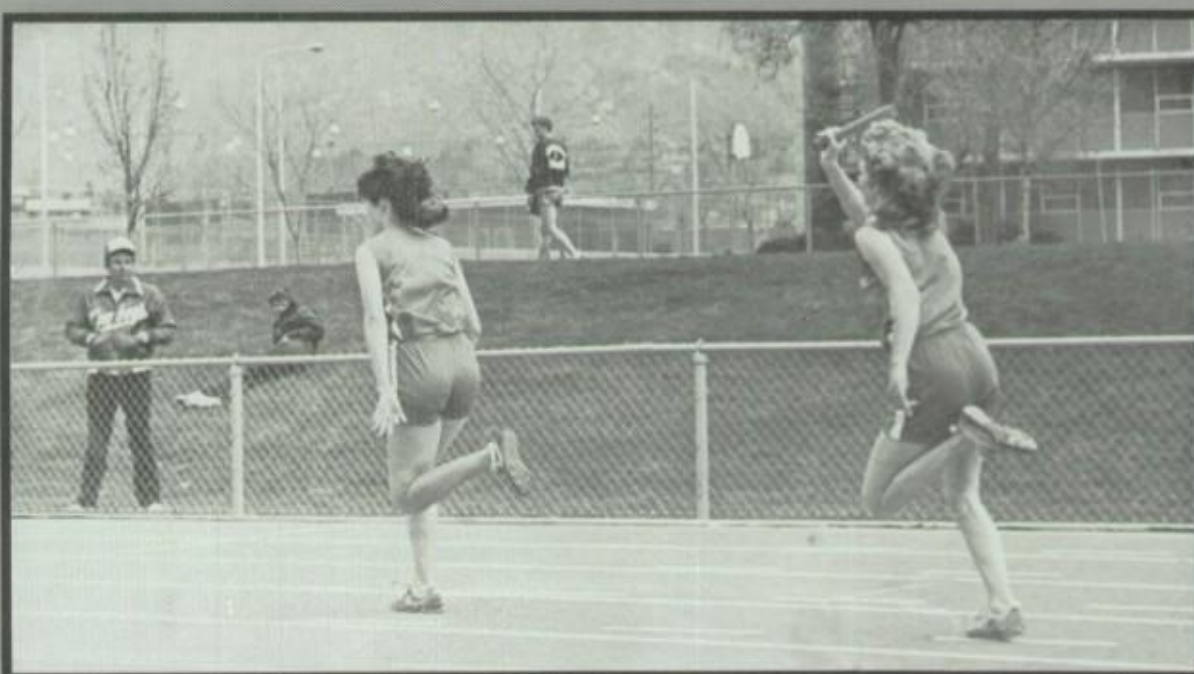

The Thunderbird Track Team swept the Utah 3-A competition with eight all-staters in the boy's division. After a winning season, the boys went on to place second in the state meet with a narrow loss of two points to Mountain View.

Sophomore, Alex Henstrom, took the state 400 meter race with a time of 50.84 seconds while Kendall Tuckett's throw of 36-9.5 lead her to the state title in the girl's shot put.

Rob Carlisle placed 2nd in the intermediate hurdles and 3rd in the high hurdles, and Lee Mortensen took 3rd in the 100 meter dash. Kris Rawle finished 4th in both the 800 meter and mile races as Darren Hardy placed 5th in the two mile. In the field events, Craig Pinegar took 3rd in the 3-A shot put and 2nd in the discus with Brad Peacock and Thor Christiansen following with 3rd and 5th, respectively. In the girl's events, Lisa Sheilds placed 5th in the high jump, and Heidi Hughes took 7th in the distance races to finish the year.

Girls' Track Team; Row One, left to right: Dee Dee Gaines, Lisa Sheilds, Anne-Marie Lyon, Carolyn Baird, Shannan Tingey; Row Two: Jayne Thexton, Julie Baird, Heidi Hughes, Heather Holmes, Laura Karren; Row Three: Coach Sorenson, Naomi Shumway, Darci Hildebrandt, Jan Mortensen, Joanne Baird; Row Four: Alyson Denning, Kendall Tuckett. Missing: Rebecca Turner, Judy Seaman, and Barbara Jones.

Lisa Sheilds and Julie Baird passed away.

Lisa leaped.

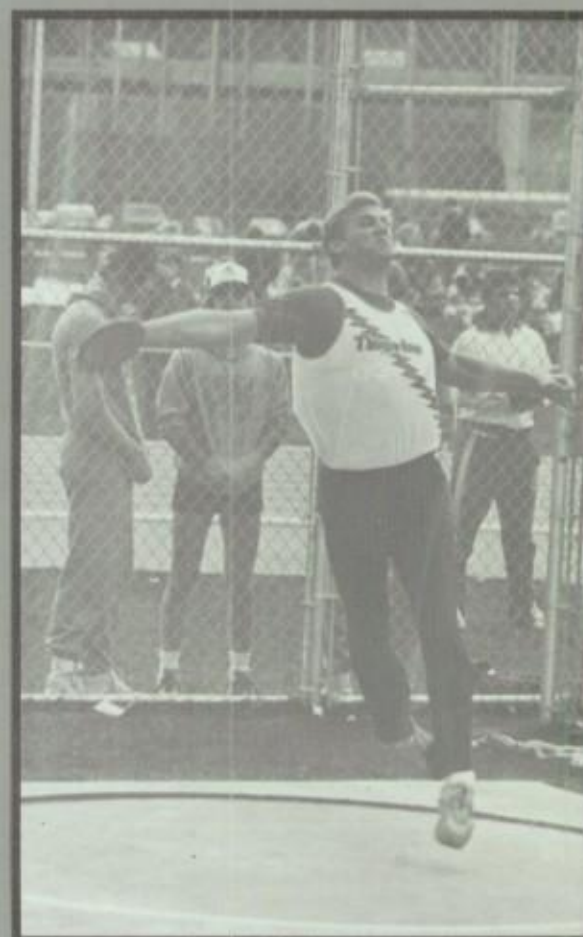

Heidi Hughes took things in stride.

Boys' Track Team; Row One; left to right: Vaughn Gourdin, Darren Hardy, Craig Weight, Kris Rawle, Van Linford, Scott Sorenson; Row Two: Andy Clegg, Marlin Christianson, Chris Carter, Bill Oldroyd, Brad Peacock, Merrill Oveson, Scott Thygerson; Row Three: John Ivie, Alex Henstrom, Coach Kulmann, Bill Lindley, Scott VanAlfen, Matt Warner; Row Four: Rob Carlisle, Lee Mortenson, Craig Pinegar.

BOYS TRACK

Thor Christianson tried to fly

Alex Henstrom, state 400 meter champion.

Rah! Rah! Rawle!

Craig threw up.

Rob Carlisle reached new heights.

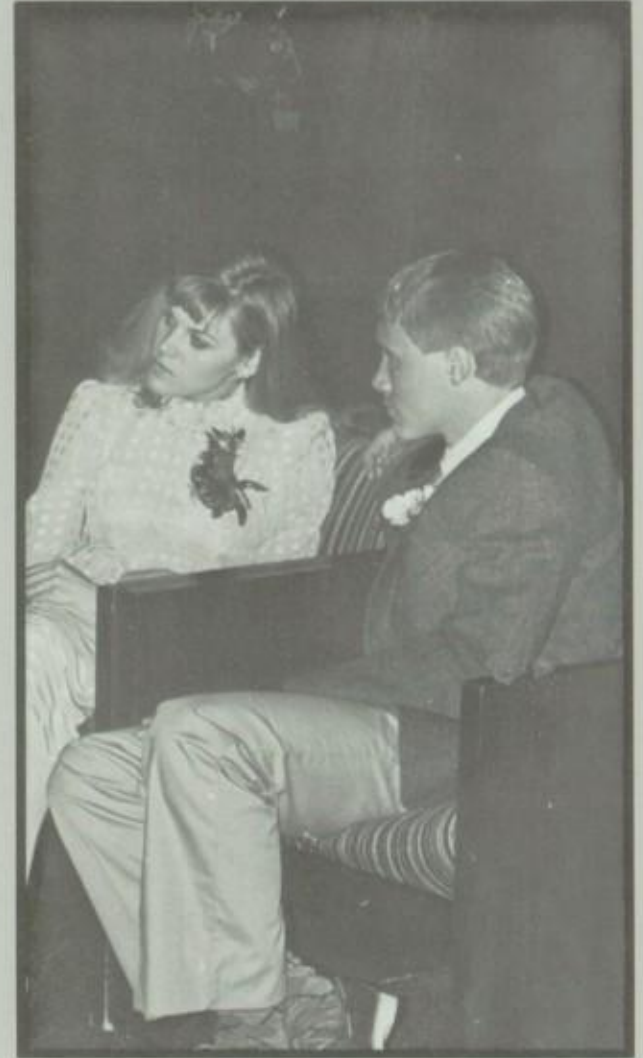

It was a surprise. I'm glad I did it again, and I hope that I can take state again next year. " — Kendall Tuckett, after winning the state shot put title.

It feels good to take state. It was unexpected, but I'm mad I didn't do well in the long jump." — Alex Henstrom, state 400 meter champion.

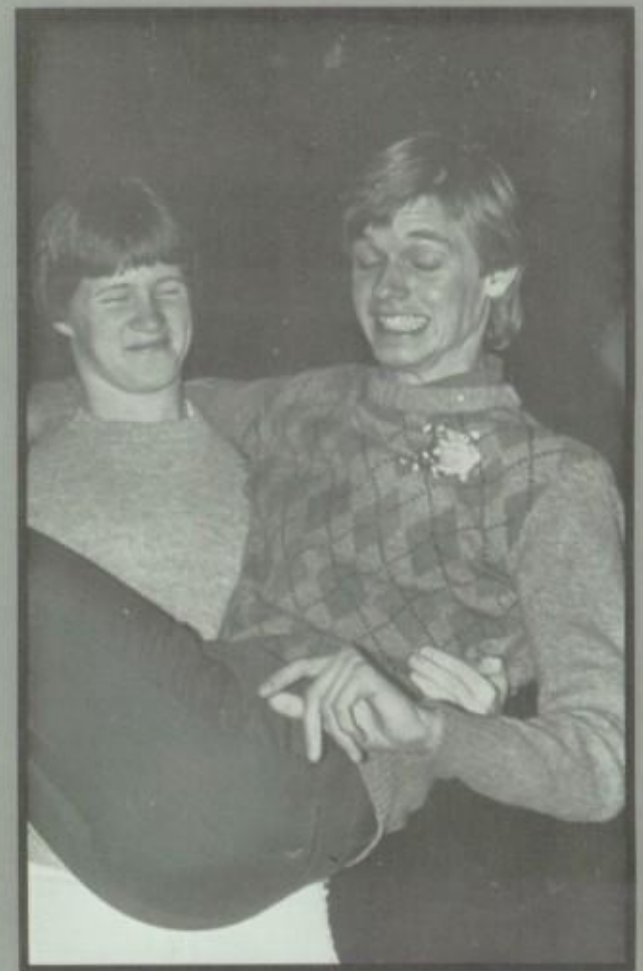

Drill Team Formal

Todd noticed Jolene's Ultra Brite smile.

Marcie and Rob took time out from dancing.

Tom and Joe enjoyed blind dating.

Has anyone seen Steve?

Well, we could always take them down to the lake.

Michele Larson ... a foxy lady.

Layton saw Kristen's slip.

The Drill Team spent the night before decorating for the dance. Chinese lanterns were hung to give an oriental appearance and to carry out the theme of "Some Enchanted Evening."

I wish I could do it all over again because it was so fun — Terra Brailsford, Drill Team Member.

JUNIOR PROM Run

Junior Prom Royalty; Row One; left to right: Sandra Thorn, attendant; LaDonn Robins, attendant; Jill Maxwell, queen; Catha Horsley, attendant; Row Two; Brian Evenson, attendant; Marlin Christianson, king; Steve Farnsworth, attendant.

Greg and Annette were Taylor-ed.

Rob dragged Tiffany through the promenade.

for the Roses

Junior Prom dance committee Row One; left to right: Nancy Heckmann, Catha Horsley, Heidi Heninger, Joy Huish; Row two: Julie Newman, Amy Oaks, Karen Bowman, LaDonn Robins, Scott King, Chris Kelly; Row three: Denny Wright, Kent Hill, Rodney Bills, Dallen Miner, Paul Killpack; Not pictured: Kristin Anderson, Bonnie Campbell, Deenette Hart, Lisa Johansen, Martha Palmer, Tammy Petersen.

Nancy saw through rose colored glass.

Chris drew an audience.

Scott and Betsy tiptoed through the roses.

Everyone knew that the Junior Prom was going to be spectacular when they saw the decorations being put up three days before hand, and they were not disappointed. The theme, "Run for the Roses", was quite obvious because there were roses everywhere. The gorgeous decorations blended well with all the girls' (and Tom call's) dresses, while the boys' tuxedos made them look handsome. The promenade through a rose-horseshoe was started off by Jill Maxwell and Marlin Christiansen, queen and king of the Prom.

Joanne was not bored.

Julie's meal was finger lickin' good.

Jenny and Susan were overcome with excitement.

Mark was pleased with his partner.

The graduating class of 1983 ended their final year in grand style with the annual Senior Dinner Dance at the Hotel Utah. After dining on cheesecake and chicken cordon blue, the seniors watched a slide show prepared by Steve Kingsolver while Eric Linebarger stunned the audience with his background music. Later, as they swung to the music of "Light Year," the soon-to-be graduates felt nostalgic while dancing to the evening's theme song "We May Never Pass This Way Again."

The atmosphere created at the Hotel Utah was so wonderful that no one could deny it made for an excellent date. In fact, it ranked as one of the top three dates of my dating career."
—Steve Ashby

That was good stuff, Maynard."—Jeanne Baird, commenting on the Senior Dinner Dance menu.

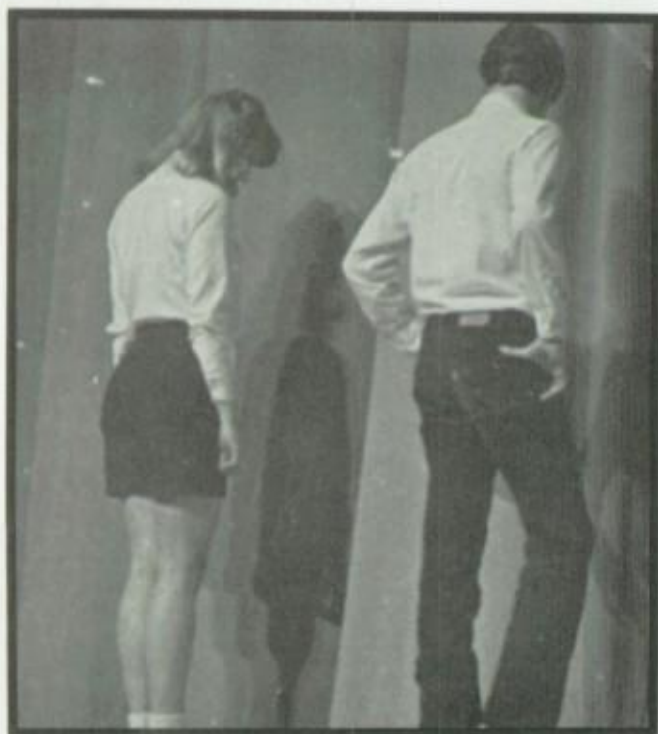

Dave West jazzed out.

York picked a song.

STARS

ASSEMBLY

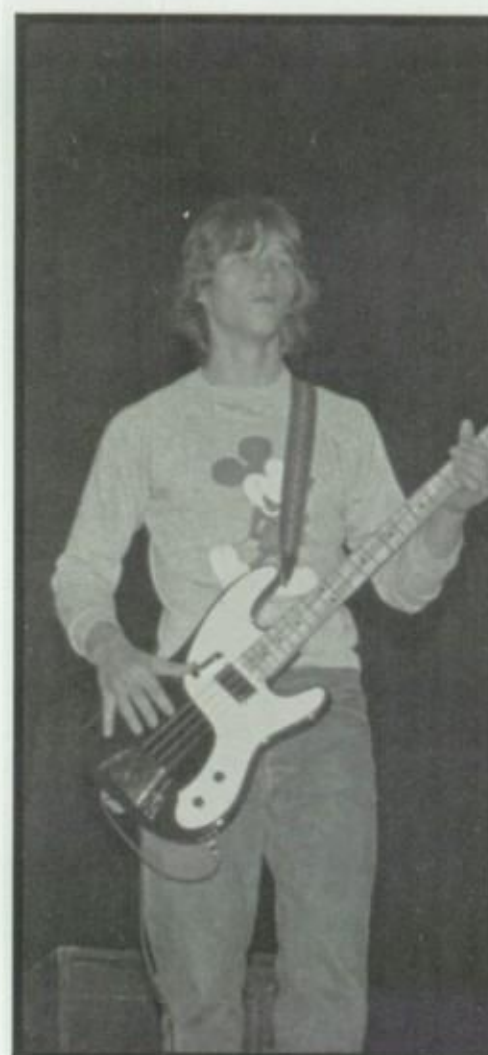

The Werners backed up.

The Stars Assembly was another smash this year. With an auditorium full of spectators, the performers were able to do their part without a mistake. Taking part in this show were Ralph Barnes and band, Dave West and his Jazz band and many other talented people. All who were in attendance really enjoyed it.

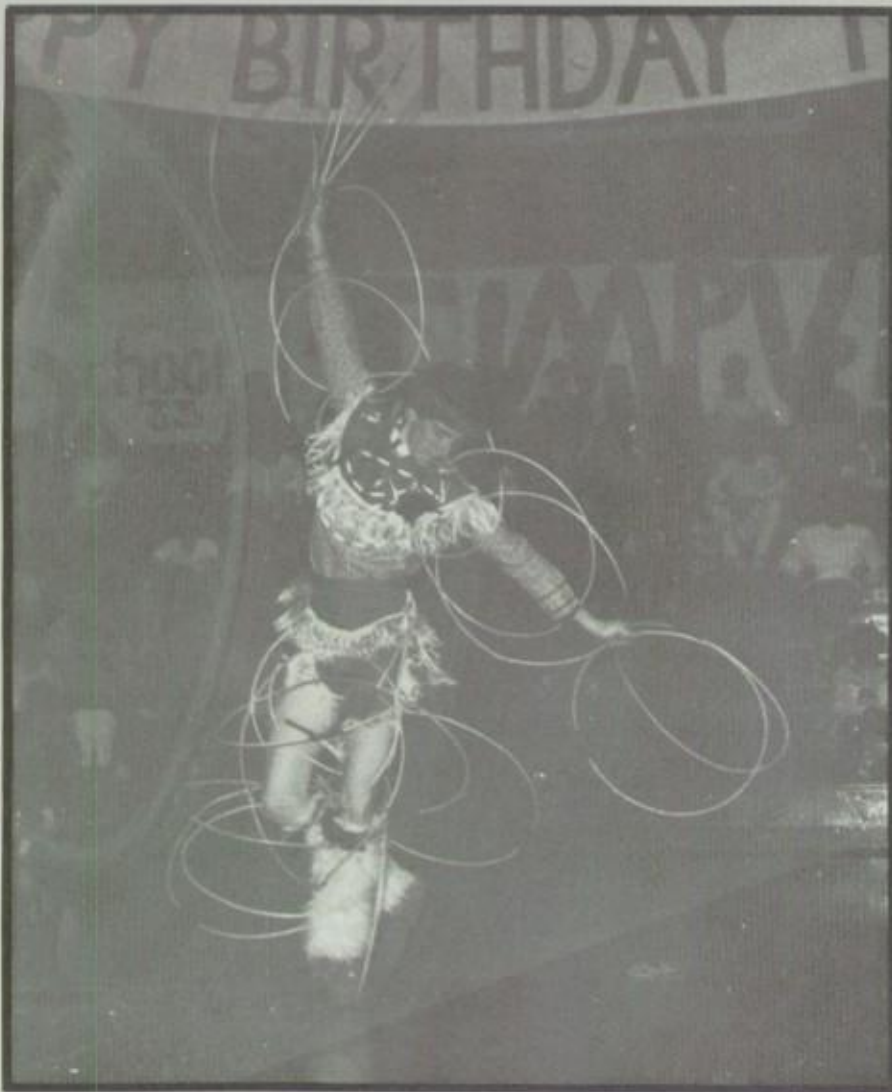

Ralf rocked.

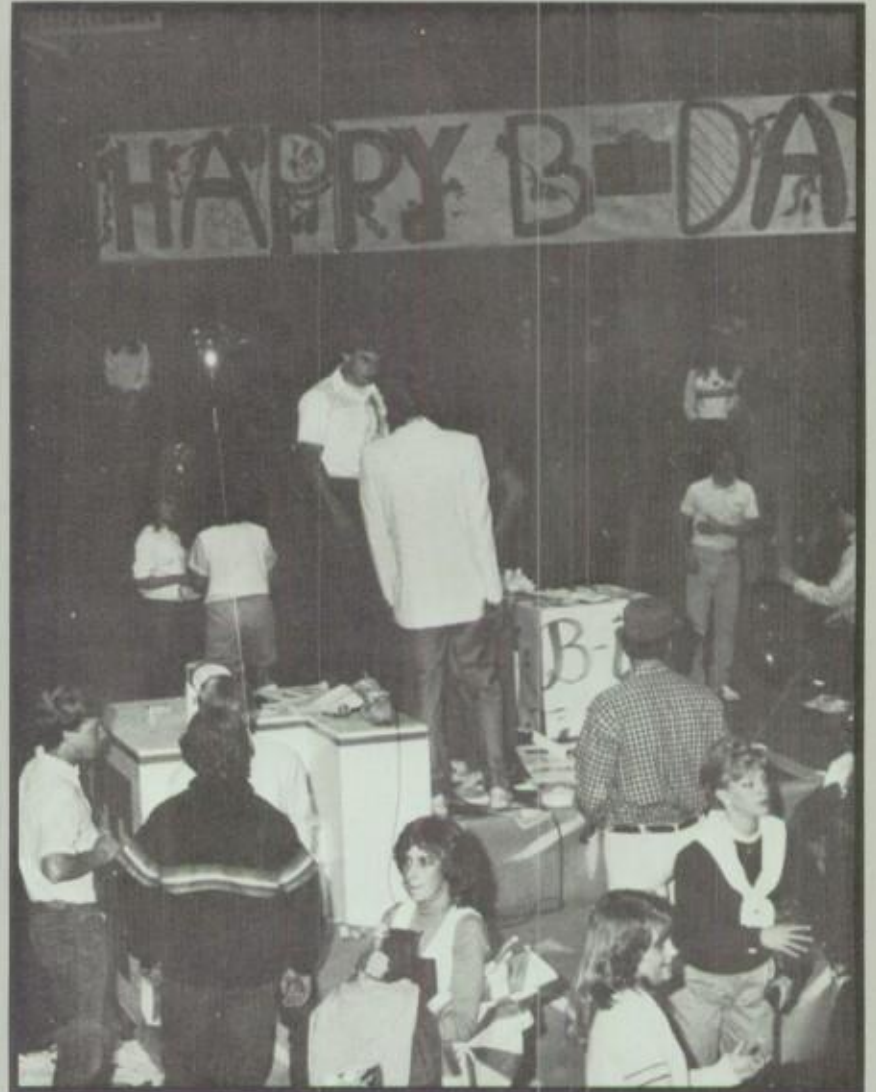

Matt moused around.

Birthday Bash

Dave Orton danced in circles.

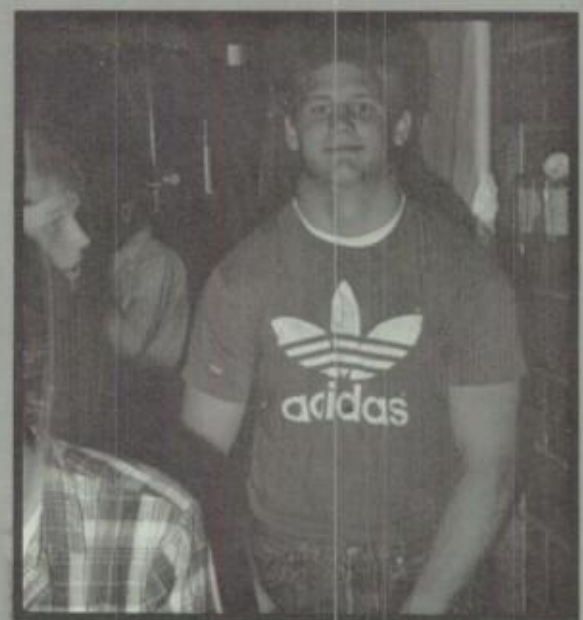

Student Government bashed the birthday.

Eric was defeated.

Eric ate the microphone.

How does Thor rate?

The Birthday Bash made its first appearance to help celebrate the close of yet another school year. Alumni could be seen cheering for the worst "bloopers" ever seen in one night. Following the assembly, "The Man from Snowy River" was shown and a dance came to life. To top off the night, the new 83-84 student government was announced.

Tracy Alexander enjoyed her yearbook.

Lee and Kevin, Seven & Eleven.

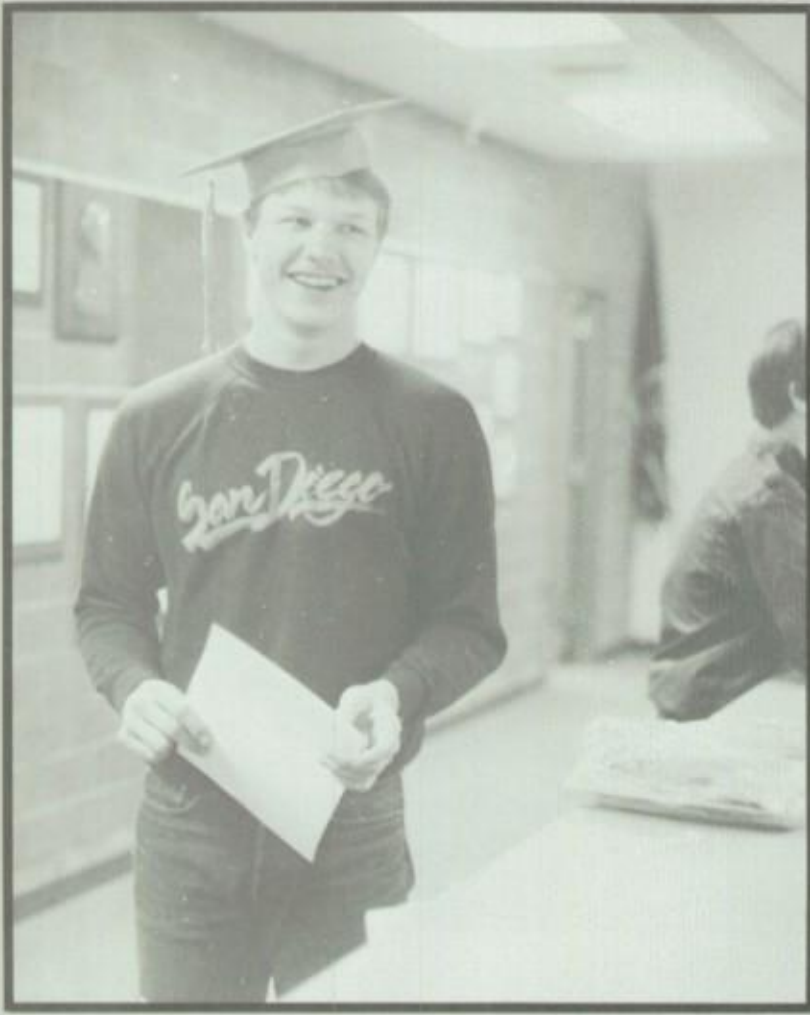

Gary McKellar will be missed at Timpview.

Regina Nelson met her yearbook challenge.

After the last finals were over and the seniors had survived marching through the halls for graduation rehearsal, the commons became a sea of bodies as under and upperclassmen alike plopped themselves in some convenient spot and began signing yearbooks. The next day, however, fewer students showed up as half the senior class tried to catch up on the sleep they missed by coming home at 5:30 a.m. while the half that came to sign books hadn't slept at all.

Ty Smith graduated.

Mariko Inouyo, saluted Timpview.

Dave Henstrom, graduation speaker.

Bruce Pritchett, graduation speaker.

Lisa Heckmann, graduation speaker.

Valerie Stander, graduation speaker.

THE CHALLENGE IS MET

The finishing touches of the 1983 school year began with Academic Awards Assembly. BYU president Jeffery Holland spoke at Vespers two days later where studentbody president Eric White gave his parting words to the senior class. Brad Peacock, Debi Browning, and Joanne Baird also participated in the service. Mariko Inouyo, Haley Hansen, York Faulkner, and Nicole Price were honor students involved in the actual graduation.

Commencement speakers Val Stander, Dave Hen-strom, Lisa Heckmann, and Bruce Pritchett addressed the class on a theme from Jonathan Livingston Seagull which suggests that man is an unlimited idea of freedom.

Over 50 of the seniors graduated with honors, and the class had higher ACT and test scores than any other graduating group. The class of 1983 left Timpview High School with a legacy of ideas and memories.
